

Starters Lined Up In Michigan Primary Races

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING—(P)—Barring any unexpected last minute starters, the Republican primary election sweepstakes have crystallized in Michigan and it is possible to assess the runners.

This is the kind of "winter book" the politicians are making:

The G.O.P. has three candidates for governor, three for United States senator and five for lieutenant governor, the office in which some reported there was no interest.

Alger Has Advantage
The Republican gubernatorial race is between Secretary of State Fred M. Alger Jr., Lt. Gov. William C. Vandenberg and Donald S. Leonard, former state police commissioner.

Most politicians consider it a contest between Alger and Vandenberg, with Leonard marked for the third spot in the finals. This is all guess-work, you know, before the entire campaign has begun to shape up.

Alger has the only organization in this race, the far-flung branch and fee offices of the department of state. Two years ago when he made the same race he very high-mindedly refused to use these offices politically, but this year they are ordered to produce.

Alger has the advantage of money, a good personality, nearly six years in state office, the backing (presumably) of the strong anti-boss Wayne county precinct organization and a loosely-knit organization of Young Republicans and independents who backed him two years ago.

Backed By Old Guard
Vandenberg, with three terms in the Senate and one as presiding officer of the Senate, is a retired Holland business man and the favorite of the church groups and the dries, who can deliver no mean bloc of votes for one of their own.

Vandenberg is being backed by much of the old-guard Republican organization and, reportedly, by the United Action group in Detroit, a rival of the precinct organization.

Thus he goes into the race with a solid block of up-state votes and a chance at a good cut into Detroit.

Six Port Huron Slayers Guilty

PORT HURON, Mich. — (P)—A jury convicted six Detroit Negroes last night of second degree murder in the robbery-slaying of a 65-year-old junk dealer-farmer last Oct. 18. The verdict came shortly before midnight after six hours deliberation.

The maximum sentence for second degree murder is life imprisonment. Circuit Judge Edward T. Kane said he would await probation reports before setting a sentencing date.

Immediately after the six were convicted, the state announced it would ask that two who previously had pleaded guilty to first degree murder be allowed to withdraw their pleas and plead to second degree charges. Both, Richard Berger, 23, of Maybree, and John Brown, 19, of Detroit, appeared as prosecution witnesses.

Those convicted were: Robert L. Newing, 30; Thaddeus Thompson, 36; Joseph Jackson, 25; Crosson Carlton, 37; Sylvester Johnson, 22, and Arthur Hale, 28, all of Detroit.

They were found guilty in the slaying of Alphonse D'Hondt, 65, who operated a junk yard in the yard of his farm home 18 miles southwest of here. He was bludgeoned with a 2-by-4 inch plank, his body trussed and left in his trailer home.

Brown and Berger testified that D'Hondt caught the eight, traveling in two trucks, red-handed as they were stealing junk from his yard and that others among the eight swung on him with the heavy plank.

Commerce Secretary Biased; No Friend Of Union, Murray Shouts

By LEE LINDER
PHILADELPHIA—(P)—Philip Murray, still seeking a wage increase for his steelworkers after five months of negotiations, has lashed out critically at the boss of the federal-seized steel mills, calling the Secretary of Commerce biased and no friend of the CIO union.

The president of the CIO-United Steelworkers said yesterday that Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer had exhibited an "unthinkable degree of bias" in operating America's basic steel mills under orders of President Truman.

Ready To Bargain
The charge came as the four-day sixth (biennial) constitutional convention came to a close.

But as Murray criticized Sawyer he hoisted aloft a tiny smoke signal for steel labor peace, urging officials of the industry to call a meeting "promptly" and "to bargain out agreements based on the wage stabilization recommendations."

Murray, sometimes shouting and shaking his fist, insisted again that the union is ready—and always has been ready—to bargain with the industry.

The convention-ending harangue was based on a letter Sawyer wrote to Murray, and which the Commerce Secretary suggested might be read to the 2,500 delegates representing the 1,100,000 steelworkers.

And read it Murray did, waving it at his stunned audience, and calling the letter "nonsensical" and "an insult" to the union.

Sawyer wrote that though most of the steelworkers had preserved steel mill equipment during the recent three-day strike "this protection was not universal."

Equipment Damaged
Murray flatly denied this charge, declared that it was union policy during any walkout to close down plants in orderly manner without any damage.

"The implication here," said Murray as he held Sawyer's letter, "is designed to show that the

Texas Oil Fire Loss $1,000,000

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. — (P)—A million-dollar oil fire which had burned all night in this coastal city was extinguished shortly after dawn today.

Firemen began rolling up their hose at about 7:30 a. m. after a sleepless fight against a raging, spectacular threat to the city.

Foamite—a carbon dioxide extinguisher—did the trick. Some 200,000 pounds of the fire-suffocating chemical arrived from Houston at 6:30 a. m. It quickly doused what was left of a blaze already near the point of burning itself out.

Oilmen estimated the damage at $1,000,000.

The blaze is Texas' third big oil fire within a few days. A refinery at Houston burned and a Fort Worth & Denver City Railway accident at Corsicana set fire to several cars of gasoline and oil earlier in the week.

Oregon Rolls Up Big Victory For Eisenhower

PORTLAND, Ore. — (P)—Mounting returns early today magnified a smashing triumph for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in his primary election bid for Oregon's 18 Republican delegates.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, on the basis of results from yesterday's heavy voting popularity poll, grabbed an equally huge lead that assured him 12 Democratic delegates.

Taft Gets Write-In
Eisenhower, 6,000 miles away from the Oregon campaign, stands to gain 10 delegates pledged to the winner of the preferential election. And his supporters were ahead in contests with eight uninstructed delegate-candidates to point toward a possible clean sweep.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio did not enter the contest. Eight uninstructed candidates for delegates to the Republican National Convention are generally believed to be supporters of the Ohioan. Three have announced for him. Write-in votes for Taft were slow coming in.

Poll Confirmed
The trend in both parties fully confirmed an Associated Press survey of Oregon newsmen a week before election. The poll placed Eisenhower and Warren one-two in the Republican race and Kefauver as the odds-on choice in the Democratic.

Eisenhower's showing as a vote-getter and his increase in delegate strength bolstered his race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Airborne Infantry Bolsters Guard On Tough Koje POWs

TOKYO — (P)—Gen. Mark Clark tonight said the U. S. 187th Airborne infantry regiment has moved from Japan to Koje Island to reinforce the United Nations guard over tough Red prisoners of war there and prevent "mass outbreaks which inevitably would result in additional violence and bloodshed."

The new U. N. Supreme Commander said he ordered the reinforcements to Koje "to insure the complete control of U. N. POW Camp No. 1 at Koje-Do by the United Nations authorities."

Pillboxes Built
Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, former commander of the island camp, was held hostage by the prisoner 78 hours last week. Dodd and his successor, Brig. Gen.

About 20 tanks, some equipped with flamethrowers, were standing by on the island in case of trouble.

Presumably the 187th took more tanks to the island today.

"I do not propose to countenance for one moment further unlawful acts on the part of these prisoners of war and civilian internees," Clark said in a statement.

He said the 187th had completed its movement to the island 30 miles off southeast Korea.

Three Events Booked For Gen. Eisenhower At Abilene, Kansas
ABILENE, Kansas — (P)—Three public appearances are scheduled for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at his homecoming here June 4.

Eisenhower headquarters announced yesterday the general is expected to make his first major address as a potential presidential candidate at cornerstone laying ceremonies at the museum being built to house his war souvenirs. The museum adjoins his boyhood home.

The cornerstone laying ceremony is scheduled for 1 p. m. (EST).

At 3:30 p. m. (EST) the general will review an hour-long parade. His major address of the day will be delivered at 6 p. m. (EST) in Eisenhower Park. It will be carried by all major radio and television networks.

A press conference is scheduled for the morning of June 5.

St. Paul Youth Says He Set $35,000 Fire To Erase $2 Bar Debt

ST. PAUL, Minn. — (P)—A 21-year-old St. Paul youth today faced a first degree arson charge for setting a $35,000 tavern-apartment fire to wipe out his $2 bar debt.

Ray Schmidt, detective lieutenant, said Thomas J. Palmer had signed a statement admitting he ignited the credit records of the Jolly O tavern after burglarizing it of $200 early Tuesday. Schmidt said he would sign the arson complaint.

"I didn't think the fire would spread that far," Schmidt quoted the suspect as saying. Fifteen persons in apartments above the tavern were driven out by the blaze.

Half Million Michigan Folks See MacArthur, Load Him With Gifts

By WEB McKINLEY
DETROIT — (P)—General Douglas MacArthur was back in New York today after a triumphant two-day visit to Michigan. But it may take another plane to fly back the scrolls, keys to cities, medals and other mementos that admiring Michigan gave him.

The 72-year-old general, his wife and aides completed a dashing tour of 17 southern Michigan communities at 7:58 p. m. EST yesterday when their chartered plane took off from Willow Run airport.

When it was all over, a half million or more people had seen the military hero in the course of the day. They had cheered him enthusiastically, draped their cities with flags, serenaded him with bands and honored him with speeches, resolutions, scrolls and a poem. And they had amazed sponsors of the tour with their turnouts.

More Than Expected
"This has exceeded by far my most optimistic hopes," said State Rep. William Broomfield, Royal Oak Republican and head of a legislative committee to honor MacArthur in Lansing.

"The people of Michigan expressed themselves much more fervently than I ever dreamed they would," said Simon DenUyl, Michigan industrialist who headed "MacArthur Day" plans in Detroit.

In Detroit alone, an estimated 300,000 people jammed the streets to see the MacArthur party. An estimated 25,000 packed into Cadillac square to hear him plead "that the course of government be reoriented from the arbitrariness of autocratic rule that is leading us inexorably toward the regimentation of a military state."

The turnout was proportionate in other towns.

Up 132 Per Cent
Newsprint, the paper that newspapers are printed on, accounts for up to 50 per cent of the expense of getting out a big metropolitan daily. Figuring in the new $10 increase, the price of newsprint since V-J day has climbed 132 per cent. It has gone up more than 200 per cent since the great depression.

Some publishers predict that the higher costs will inevitably lead to further increases in advertising and subscription rates—already near or past the saturation point, in the opinion of many.

Others say the steady trend toward fewer and larger newspapers, toward mergers and consolidations, will gather new force. Expectations are that an increasing number of newspapers may be put out of business.

The Truman administration immediately asked the Canadian government to reconsider and rescind its approval of the price hike.

Dailies Disappear
Price Director Ellis Arnall, in a telegram to C. D. Howe, Canadian minister of defense production, said 749 American daily newspapers have disappeared within the past 20 years through consolidations, mergers and failures.

If newsprint prices continue to rise, Arnall said, the trend will continue and—in the end—the Canadian newspaper industry itself would ultimately be injured.

The increase will boost the price of Canadian newsprint delivered in New York to an all-time high of $126 a ton.

In the depression years of the early 30's newsprint cost $40 a ton. It was $50 a ton at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Collision Kills 5 Near Detroit

DETROIT — (P)—Five young people—three of them teen age girls—were killed last night in a head-on collision of two cars.

Police said the crash on Eureka Road near the Wayne County Airport was the worst traffic accident in 10 years in Wayne county. The impact scattered bodies of the victims and twisted wreckage of the two cars across the pavement.

Three other passengers in the cars were critically injured.

Killed were: Daryl Lewis, 21, of Romulus township; Barbara Stewart, 16, of New Boston; Arthur Maxwell, 14, of Taylor township; Barbara La Beau, 14, of Taylor township; and Lorraine Schowchow, 15, of Wyandotte.

Critically injured were Nancy Schowchow, 12, a sister of Lorraine; Harold J. Spence, 18, of Taylor township; and Marvin Crowley, 17, also of Taylor township. All are in Wayne county general hospital.

The two cars collided with such force that the hood of one tore loose and was embedded in the motor block of the other.

Police said Lewis and Miss Stewart were in one car, a convertible roadster. The other victims were in a car driven by Spence.

Red Rail Lines Ripped In Korea

SEOUL, Korea — (P)—Allied land and carrier-based planes relentlessly attacked Communist supply lines and storage depots Friday in North Korea.

On the ground, action was largely confined to patrol clashes and sporadic artillery fire.

The Air Force said its warplanes flew 1,030 sorties. Pilot claims included 25 Red guns silenced, 40 troop bunkers destroyed, 55 buildings and 65 vehicles destroyed, four bridges damaged, one boat sunk, and 110 rail cuts.

Navy pilots from the American carriers Boxer and Philippine Sea said they cut Red rail lines in northeast Korea in 177 places, destroyed three rail bridges, blew up 18 supply buildings, two rail cars and 10 trucks.

The Fifth Air Force announced that the Allies lost 14 planes in combat the past week. One U. S. Sabre jet was knocked out in an air fight. Eleven U. N. planes were shot down by ground fire. Two more were lost to unknown causes.

Red Propaganda Tangles Up All Armistice Talks

By SAM SUMMERLIN
MUNSAN, Korea — (P)—United Nations truce negotiators told the Reds today the U. N. Command has made its "final negotiatory effort" and suggested the Reds re-evaluate their behavior in the "tragic situation you are creating."

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior Allied delegate, bluntly declared in today's 50 minute session at Panmunjom:

"We have made our final negotiatory effort in the interest of an early armistice. We will not consider further concessions or counter-proposals."

Sick Of Communism
The issue of how to exchange prisoners of war blocks an armistice.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il declared the Reds will never agree to the Allied over-all proposal of April 28. It calls for return of only those Communist prisoners who are willing to go back to Communist-held territory.

Fewer than half the 169,000 captured Reds and internees have expressed willingness to go back. Allied screening of prisoners showed this fact.

At Communist insistence, the armistice negotiators will meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m., (5 p. m., Saturday EST).

Joy reviewed the Allied offer of April 28. In it the Allies offered to withdraw their objections to rehabilitation of Red airfields if the Reds withdraw the nomination

Paper Price Boost Puts Squeeze On Publishers In U. S.

By WALTER BREEDER JR.
NEW YORK — (P)—Faced with another $10-a-ton boost in the price of Canadian newsprint—the second such increase in less than a year — American newspaper publishers find themselves in an increasingly difficult cost squeeze in getting out their daily paper.

The latest increase—15%—is expected to take effect June 15—is expected to add more than 50 million dollars a year to costs of publishing in this country.

Up 132 Per Cent

Strike Settlements Slow; Oil Production Shrinks To Trickle

DENVER — (P)—The back-to-work movement of a large portion of the nation's refinery and pipeline oil industry workers was a slow trickle today, the 17th of a nationwide strike.

Meanwhile, some industry supplies continued short, especially aviation gasoline.

Settlements, which were expected to be quick if not completely satisfactory, are slow in coming.

About 35 CIO oil workers struck the WYCO pipeline in Colorado and Wyoming late yesterday. The line supplies 130 million of the 500 million gallons of refined gasoline used each year in Colorado.

General disappointment was expressed over the government's ceiling recommendation of a 15-cent hourly wage hike. The coalition of 22 AFL, CIO and Independent union had been asking 25 cents, plus other benefits.

Court Sentences Two To Prison

Prison terms were given to two convicted criminal law offenders by Judge Glenn W. Jackson in Circuit Court yesterday.

The sentences:
Forrest Mitchell, three to 10 years in the Marquette branch of Michigan State Prison on the count of embezzlement; and Edgar Nedeau, convicted of car theft in jury trial this week, from one-and-a-half to two years in Marquette prison.

Lona McGinnis was placed on probation for two years following her plea of guilty earlier this week to the charge of forging and uttering. She was required to pay to the court the sum of money for which she issued forged checks.

Three criminal cases remain on the docket of this term of court. Action on two of these will be taken next week.

Expected Monday is the arraignment of William Congleton, 29, Escanaba, on the charge of uttering and passing worthless checks, and of Gerald Allsworth, 18, Escanaba, for larceny from an automobile. Both are now in county jail.

Sentencing of Douglas W. Schaffer on the counts of unlawfully driving away an automobile and taking and using an automobile without intent to steal is continued to June 23.

Mrs. Otto Knaak, Former Resident, Dies In Los Gatos

Mrs. Otto Knaak of Los Gatos, Calif., former resident of Escanaba, died at 10:30 a. m. Friday at her home following a brief illness.

Mrs. Knaak was born, Jennie Johnson, in Escanaba, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson. She received her early education here and later entered the nursing profession.

She is survived by her husband, one sister, Mrs. Marian Mullins, and four brothers, John M. of Shawano, Wis., Justin of Los Angeles, and Emil and Oscar of Chicago; one niece, Mrs. William Beach of Gladstone; and three nephews.

Funeral services will be held at Los Gatos Monday, May 19, at 2 p. m. and burial will be in Los Gatos cemetery.

Network Highlights

NEW YORK—(P)—As the days go by, it seems almost certain that Tattler Bankhead's two-year-old big show won't be back a third season on NBC radio. Several factors are responsible, a principal one being that NBC lost a lot of dollars in the venture.

Originally designed to compete with the rival CBS Benny show, the program had the best available and most costly guest talent in 90-minute blocks. Its success fluctuated largely in accordance with who visited the program. Sponsor cooperation wasn't exactly up to hopes either. Among other splurges was the cost of opening the second season last fall from London and Paris.

Kiwanis 30 Years Old; Mark Anniversary With Ladies Night Monday

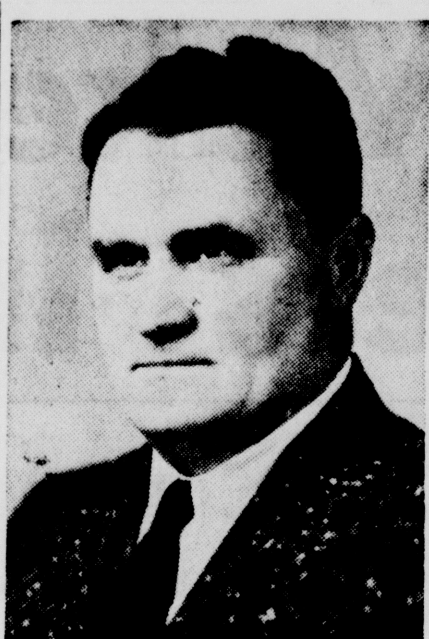

Escanaba's Kiwanis club will observe its 30th anniversary Monday night with a special program to be attended by Kiwanians and their wives and guests. The event will open with a dinner party at the House of Ludington.

Headlining the speaking program for the evening will be Claude O. Ebling of Minneapolis, general agricultural agent for the Soo Line railroad.

Ebling, who has given over 1,800 agriculture and magic talks throughout the Northwest, believes that a message can be put over easier with a smile, and he has a bag full of magic tricks to illustrate his points. He is a member of the Houdini club of Wisconsin and the International Brotherhood of Magicians.

The Escanaba Kiwanis club Monday night will look back on 30 years in the community as a leading force in serving youth, aiding the underprivileged and handicapped and taking part in public affairs. When the Escanaba club was organized March 16, 1922, Kiwanis International itself had been in existence only six years. The organization now has some 3,400 clubs in the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii, with over 205,000 members.

Jury Dismisses Damages Claim

A Circuit Court jury nullified the personal injuries suit of Mrs. Frances A. Foster against Esther and Arthur Nickols yesterday by bringing out a verdict of "no cause for action."

The nine-woman, three-man jury deliberated approximately 45 minutes to reach its decision that the plaintiff was not entitled to compensation for injuries received in a fall on the motel property of the Nickols on Lake Shore Dr. in Gladstone.

In her suit Mrs. Foster contended that negligence on the part of the defendants was attributable to her fall on allegedly slippery pavement in the court of the Nickols' tourist motel Jan. 15, 1951. The defense claimed that Mrs. Foster was guilty of contributory negligence by not wearing galoshes which might have prevented her accident.

Neglected Own Safety

Counselors were Atty. Robert E. LeMire for the defendants and Atty. Richard W. Nebel, Munising, for the plaintiff.

Judge Glenn W. Jackson instructed the jury of the law in the case yesterday afternoon after the trial had continued through two days with eight witnesses taking the stand and 17 exhibits entered.

He told the jury that they could either return a verdict of no cause for action or decide a proper amount of compensation for the plaintiff if they judged the defendants to be completely at fault.

Discovery Hearing Monday

Scheduled by Judge Jackson for hearing Monday are four chancery cases and a motion for discovery filed by the plaintiff in the accounting suit of the John P. Norton estate vs. Frank and George Lindenthal and WDBC.

Trial of the case of Peter Silbernagel vs. Joseph Larmay, an appeal from Justice Court, is set for Tuesday.

The current term of Delta County Circuit Court ends here Friday, May 23.

THOSE IN UNIFORM

Sgt. R. G. Kubley, U. S. Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Kubley, 1112 First Ave. N., arrived home by plane from Clark Air Base, Philippine Islands, to spend a 30-day furlough with his family. After his furlough he will be stationed at Brookley Air Force Base, Mobile, Ala. Sgt. Kubley has been in the Philippines for two years.

Bay Walleye Prospect Better For This Year

Northern Green bay walleyes are coming back. Indications point to improved prospects for the season opening May 21—but there will be no bumper crop such as delighted fishermen four or five years ago.

Officers of the Michigan Department of Conservation this spring noted "exceptionally heavy" walleye spawning runs on the Whitefish and Rapid River at the head of Little Bay de Noc, one of the best spawning grounds on the Great Lakes.

Best Yet To Come

Walleye fishermen who are getting tackle ready for the walleye opening next Wednesday will be encouraged by the report that it "looks good" for this year—certainly better than last summer.

But the best is yet to come so far as the walleyes and the fishermen are concerned. The number of small walleyes indicates that 1953 season will be better than this year, and unless something happens to upset the predictions there will be more larger walleyes in the years ahead.

Fishermen will turn the old reliable baits and lures at the opening of the season. June bug spinner and worms will rate high on the list, with flatfish, daredevils and other lures following.

No Net-Free Areas

Legal size limit for walleyes is 13 inches and the creel limit is 10 in one day. If Northern pike are taken in combination the creel limit is 10 fish including not more than five Northerns. On Northerns alone the limit is five.

Once acclaimed nationally as the "walleye capital" the walleye population rapidly declined in the late 1940's under intensive commercial fishing.

The Delta County Walleye Protective Association was instrumental this year in having the legislature set aside three areas (upper Little and Big Bays de Noc and the Ford River area) as closed to commercial fishing starting July 1.

But the law will not go into effect until 90 days after the legislature adjourns—and technically the legislature is still in session. Which means the net-free areas will not be net-free until July 1 of next year.

It Is Well That City Uses Caution In Carnival Permits

THE Escanaba City Council appears to be acting with justifiable caution in calling for an investigation by the city safety director before it grants a permit for a carnival to show here, as requested by the local post of the American Legion.

Certainly the American Legion as sponsors of the carnival, the City Council as the public body which must decide for or against the permit, and the people of the community will want to know the show's reputation and the experience of other cities before a permit is granted here.

In asking for an investigation by the city safety director it can be assumed the City Council will want him to be thorough and present to the Council as much information as possible. This will assist the Council in its deliberations.

There must be no misunderstanding on the part of the public, however, as to where the responsibility rests, whatever the decision on the application for a permit. It is the City Council that must decide. The safety director is responsible only for reporting his findings.

Councilman Guy Knutson has already put himself on record as opposed to carnivals in Escanaba. He stated his reasons and voted against the motion to have the application for permit referred to the safety director.

Perhaps there are some people who are puzzled by the need for regulations requiring carnivals and circuses to first obtain a permit from the city before they show here.

The answer does not reflect credit upon the quality of many traveling shows. Cities require applications for permit for such forms of itinerant entertainment because of past unhappy experience. Complaints of being kyped, complaints concerning lewd shows, complaints of misrepresentation and over-charging come to the police from the carnival customers.

Councilman Knutson pointed this out in debate at the Council meeting. Although it is true that people do not have to attend carnivals or spend money there, Councilman Knutson questioned whether the Council does not have a responsibility in protecting the public.

It is this question, plus the findings of the safety director, that the Council will undoubtedly consider in making a final decision on the request for a permit.

German Peace Contract Hangs In Balance

THE weeks ahead are critical for the European defense community, and hence for the security of the entire free world. This is so because Germany's role in Western Europe is hanging in the balance.

Chancellor Adenauer, who appears sincerely devoted to the goal of German cooperation with the West, is currently engaged in trying to win the support of his own government coalition for the so-called peace contract with France, Britain and the United States.

Once the German opposition to the proposed Western terms of settlement came chiefly from the Social Democrats under the leadership of Kurt Schumacher. Today it is more widespread, extending into the three government parties, including Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union.

If Adenauer cannot successfully quell this opposition, then prospects for adoption of the peace contract are dark. And without a peace contract it would be folly to entertain bright hopes of a European defense army embracing important German units.

One European said recently that if Germany's position in the Western European structure cannot be worked out by summer, the whole timetable of Western defense could be virtually wrecked and "we would be back where we were in 1947."

The outlook for Western solidarity is not helped by the recent British Labor party statement setting almost impossible conditions upon the inclusion of a German force in the European defense army. Britain, of course, is not a member of that proposed organization, nor is the Labor party in power. But this potent minority force in a key Western ally cannot be ignored.

Adenauer's task is immensely complicated by the German unity issue which the Soviet Union has been exploiting so effectively in late months. As many European experts have repeatedly pointed out, any real conference on German unification would almost certainly shove the peace contract and the European army project into the background.

UNCLE EF

Crooked politicians have always been with us and probably always will be. It does seem, though, that we've been sort of over-producing in that department in recent years, and some plowing under might help the political soil in the future.

Christianity in the Home

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Frightened by an earthquake, the Philistine jailer described in Acts 16 threw open the prison doors. But not a single prisoner stepped forward to freedom.

Dumbfounded and panic-stricken, the jailer turned to two of the prisoners, Paul and Silas, crying, "What must I do to be saved?" Answered Paul, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house."

Just what salvation meant to the jailer, troubled about what might befall him in that stern Roman world, is not clear, but in the answer of Paul salvation became something more than safety from the judgment of his superiors.

It was a moral and spiritual awakening and experience, but the interesting thing is that it affected the jailer's family, as well as himself.

Family religion was plainly a common experience of early Christian days. The church itself in some instances was in a house, as in the house of Aquilla and Priscilla, in that same city of Philippi.

Conditions somewhat similar to those of early Christian times, as they affected family life and religion, prevailed in many, if not in most communities until comparatively recent times.

In the early days of the United States and Canada, families were closely knit together. Many attended church as families and often prayer and read the Bible together.

We should not put too high an estimate on "the good old days," however, for all

Questions and Answers

Q—What term expresses the idea that a parrot has clipped wings?

A—The verb "pinion" means to cut off the flight feathers of a wing of a bird so as to prevent flying. A bird so clipped is said to have been pinioned.

Q—How far over can a ship list and still right itself?

A—There are cases on record where ships have listed even more than 90 degrees and recovered.

Q—Is it permissible to address Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, as "Prince"?

A—Addressing Philip as "Prince" is the general practice of British newspapers, although the title is used colloquially and affectionately rather than technically. According to strictest royal designations, he goes by the title, His Royal Highness, the Duke of Edinburgh.

Q—Who were the "Hardshell Democrats"?

A—A wing of the New York State Democratic Party of 1848 to 1854 whose members were strongly in favor of the Fugitive Slave Law. Their opponents were known as Softshell Democrats.

families of the past were by no means religious, and there was much wild life and irreligion in frontier communities that later became very religious and respectable.

My friend, the late William Wye Smith, Congregational minister and Scottish-Canadian poet (he translated the New Testament into Braid Scots and wrote the Scottish part of the original Standard Dictionary), once told me that his frontier family left the American frontier and moved to Ontario, because of the irreligion, Sunday horse racing, etc., where they had first settled.

In contrast, however, one observes the clear and strong influence of the Bible in the frontier home of Abraham Lincoln. It was undoubtedly a great factor in the development of his moral character and ideals, but it was also, apparently, the chief factor in his education.

His influence is manifest in his inaugural addresses. I read recently that the great President had only six months of formal schooling. The foundation of what he was in his stepmother's use of the few great stories at her command, and especially in her use of the Bible.

When one considers all that that meant in the life of Lincoln, one can sense the tragedy in the fact that so comparatively few boys and girls are under such influences in the home today.

Even church schools and all the more common religious agencies of today, cannot atone for the lack, and decline of religion in the home.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Usually placid "Uncle" Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, practically burned up the telecommunications between Washington and Tokyo the other night over the Korean-prisoner snafu.

Bradley came down to the Pentagon at 8:30 p. m. after Brig. Gen. Charles Colson had published his statement of concessions given to obtain the release of Brig. Gen. Francis Dodd. And he stayed there until 11:30 p. m., exchanging caustic comments with Gen. Mark Clark, who had stepped off his plane three days before to find himself in a hornet's nest.

Here are the highlights of the bawling-out General Bradley gave to the staff in Tokyo. It indicates how seriously the Kojima Island fiasco upset Washington and our international relations.

"Colson's agreement with prisoners of war received wide treatment with sensational headlines," Bradley opened his talk with Tokyo. "Effect on propaganda position with rest of world very bad."

Bradley then angrily commented on the agreement that Colson reached with the prisoners.

"Colson says in the future all prisoners of war can expect 'humane treatment in this camp according to the principles of international law,'" commented General Bradley. "This implies that we have not been giving them humane treatment according to the principles of international law. Our understanding here is that they have always received humane treatment and that the principles of international law have been continually upheld."

"Colson states: 'I will do all within my power to eliminate further violence and bloodshed.' It is assumed that we have always taken all steps possible to prevent violence and bloodshed but that violence on the part of the prisoners has in some cases led to bloodshed and that Colson made this statement merely to satisfy Communist demands."

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

"Colson stated that if such incidents appear in the future he would be responsible," continued the chairman of the Joint Chiefs. "Difficult to understand this statement because it is our understanding that all previous cases have been caused by the action of the prisoners themselves."

"Colson states: 'I can inform you that after General Dodd's release there will be no more forcible screening or any rearming of any remaining prisoners of war in this camp, nor will any attempt be made at nominal screening.'"

"This statement seems to violate our principles on which the whole armistice negotiations now hang. As to the rearming of prisoners of war, we have no information here that prisoners of war in the camps have ever been rearmed."

Bradley, still hot under the collar, added in his trans-Pacific talk with General Clark: "You stated that Colson's reply was made under duress and that the Communists' demands were unadulterated blackmail and any commitments made by General Colson as a result of such demands should be interpreted accordingly. This has raised the question in the minds of the press and the public as to whether Colson's commitments will be honored. Need to know here soonest what your intentions are and what you would recommend."

CLARK'S REPLY

Clark replied: "By virtue of Colson's assignment as camp commander he necessarily assumes responsibility for all incidents which occur." Clark then told Bradley that he was directing "General Van Fleet to relieve Colson from command at Kojima during the period of investigation."

In further reply to Bradley's long tirade, Clark said: "It is difficult for us, too, to understand Colson's statement. Suggest public statement indicating that clarification will come from investigation now under way." So far, Clark's report on the investigation has not been completed.

In reply to Bradley's remarks about rearming prisoners, Clark declared flatly: "No prisoner of war has been armed, nor is it contemplated that any prisoner of war will be armed for any purpose. Colson states that Communist leaders at Kojima clearly referred to possibility that prisoners of war and civilian internees transferred to South Korea would be rearmed and pressed into service against Communist forces."

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

London—A mighty Russian offensive was reported driving ever closer to Kharkov through a 70-mile gap blasted out of German Ukraine defenses in bloody recompense for defeats on the Kerch Peninsula.

Washington, D. C.—A joint Army-Navy communique, reviewing the progress of the war to date, asserted that during a period of preparation for offensive action a "number of successful thrusts" at the Japanese had worked a "lasting effect on the strategic situation."

Escanaba—Mrs. Frank Schumacher, 56, prominent member of the community, died at St. Francis Hospital following a ten-week illness.

Escanaba—Rose Nadolski returned from Davenport, Iowa, where she visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nadolski.

Gladstone—Marion Day and Raymond Day left for a several days' visit with friends in Waukesha, Wis.

Manistique—L. R. Thornton left for Traverse City where he was to spend the weekend with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Thornton.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Three Escanaba men burned to death in a fire which destroyed a small cottage in the southwest outskirts of the city, near Willow Creek Road: the victims were: Harold Bergeson, 38, Lake Shore Drive; Ernest Berg, 24, 214 N. 11th St.; and Earl Putvin, 32, 1010 Third Ave. S.

Escanaba—Dr. A. J. Carlton and Oscar Kraus announced their candidacies for membership on the Escanaba board of education.

Escanaba—Mildred Mayer and Robert Garrity, students in St. Joseph High School, appeared as speakers on the program of the local Rotary club meeting.

Better Hurry, Son, Time's A-Wastin'!

Paratroops May Be Replaced By New And Faster Winged 'Copter

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Army is developing a revolutionary new type of aircraft which has already flown. It is expected to eliminate the need for parachute troops. It may make most current Army logistical doctrines obsolete.

Called a convertiplane, it can fly straight up and down like a helicopter, needs no special landing field, and can fly forward faster than most present conventional troop transports. Such an aircraft has long been the dream of military experts.

One development contract is held by the Gyrodyne Co. of America with a big plant on Long Island, N. Y. Heavy secrecy now surrounds the specific Army project. But details previously released by the firm on a similar model tell the story of the new Army convertiplane's performance and possibilities.

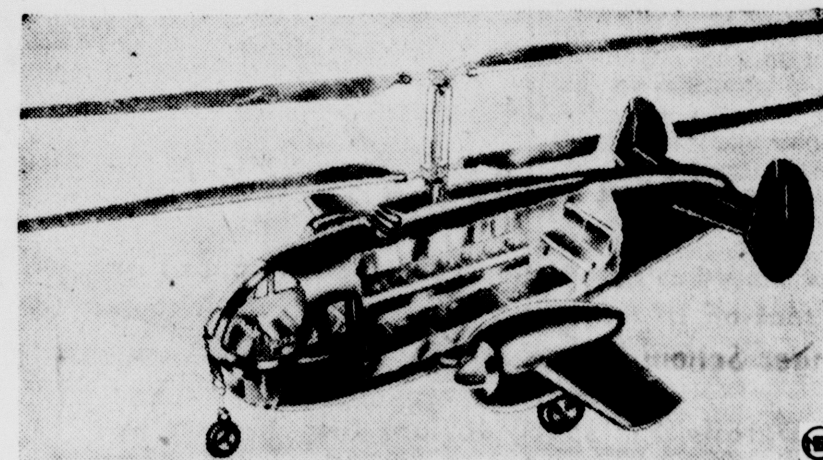

The U. S. Navy has also invested heavily in the project.

Gyrodyne has various models but they all have in common a double rotor blade on top to give the aircraft the characteristics of a conventional helicopter, plus stubby wings and propellers for forward speed. The rotors are locked in a fixed position to create the least possible drag while the plane is in forward flight.

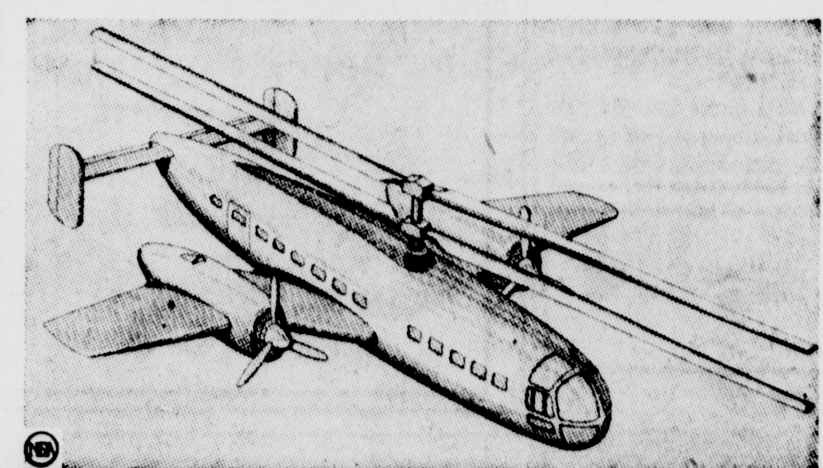

In addition to straight up and down and forward flight, the craft can hover and fly sideways.

The revolutionary use of the helicopter by the Army and Navy during the Korean war focused attention on the convertiplane. The tremendous value of straight up and down flight for evacuating wounded, air-sea rescue work, reconnaissance and air supply showed the need for a craft which could also fly forward as fast as conventional transports—the big limitation of helicopters.

Engineers at Gyrodyne claim their present models can fly forward faster than 200 miles per hour, with projected models in

TROOP TRANSPORT VERSION of convertiplane, completely engineered and ready to be built, can carry combat troops in bucket seats or litter cases as a flying ambulance.

FUTURE COMMERCIAL VERSION, the "gyroliner," compares with the Constellation in size and speed. It's designed to carry 50 to 60 passengers at about 350 mph with two turbo-prop engines, and could use a space 200 x 200 feet as its airport.

the 350-mile-per-hour class.

The value of such a plane to the Army, Navy and Marines is obvious. Dropping paratroopers has always been a second-best way to get troops to a vital spot in a hurry. It involves time-consuming and costly training. Casualties are always heavy. And the weather has to be just right.

Lifting large numbers of troops over a long distance and landing them at the desired point without the need of an airport, on any terrain, has long been considered the perfect way to move troops quickly in combat. Ability to do this with a convertiplane would thus eliminate the need for the far less efficient method of dropping them from the sky in parachutes.

With enough convertiplanes whole divisions could be moved hundreds of miles overnight. Studies reveal that troops can be moved by helicopter even cheaper than by truck. And the convertiplane would do it farther and faster, plus being able to provide constant, fast re-supply of the men.

A ship-to-beachhead operation for Marines via convertiplane would clearly be far the best way yet devised for making an invasion. The troop ships could put their men into the air and yet keep far beyond the horizon, providing complete surprise. Gyrodyne has designs of convertiplanes with folding wings and rotors for compact storage aboard Navy ships.

For use after the current military emergency ends, Gyrodyne officials have their eye on commercial uses for their unique aircraft. They think it will be ideal for "feeder line" operations, carrying passengers from small towns without airfields to the big airports.

As a safety factor they point out that if all the motors should fail, the plane can still float safely to earth on its milling rotors.

Secrecy restrictions, Army spokesmen say, prohibit the announcement of any production contracts, or how far they've gone with the actual use of convertiplanes with troop maneuvers.

I had an argument with my wife and she wouldn't let me ride with her inside the cab.—Lee Hauson, explaining his presence on the roof of a taxicab.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

HOW TO DO IT—Should you want to build something yourself there is no lack of assistance these days. Magazines, newspapers, library books, and adult education courses are available to tell you how to do it.

Americans are turning to these "how to do it" helps in increasing numbers, undoubtedly to cut costs and defeat inflation. This appears to be necessary—and besides, it's fun.

Manufacturers recognize this trend with all sorts of new products for the use of the amateur. New paints to be put on with a roller are advertised to equal the professional paint job; wallpapers with glue, pre-cut houses and lawn furniture, are aids to the man who wants to do it himself.

Our exploration of this field began several years ago and reached its climax the other day with the decision to build a boat.

MANY HELPS—It is not our intention to construct a large or even medium-sized yacht. We do not dally with the thought of building a sail boat, although sail boats are economical to operate.

What we have in mind is a flat-bottomed row boat to replace the old craft battered to pieces in last year's storms. This new row boat will be made of wood—not of aluminum or steel or plastic.

To this end we went to the library and told Mrs. John Owen we planned to build a boat and did they have any books on the subject. Quicker than it takes to chisel a boat stem we had three books on how to build boats. One of the books is aptly titled "Boat Building for the Amateur."

The books contained all of the essential instructions on the construction of vessels ranging from canoes and kayaks to 40-foot cabin cruisers.

NOT SO DIFFICULT—After a bit of reading we became familiar with some boat terminology and were able to impress other amateurs with talk about transoms, stem, ribs, knees, forms, oakum and keel. Not that most of these would apply to construction of a row boat—but it is well to be informed.

We were encouraged in our intention by a report from a friend that Jim Rouman of Escanaba is completing a round or V-bottom fishing boat to be powered with an outboard motor.

"Are you going to use screw-brads or screws?" asked my friend. "Jim is using screws."

"I am using nails," was the rather defensive answer, explaining that "it's just going to be a row boat, you know." And I added triumphantly, "the book said you could use nails!"

SOMETHING NEW—Boat building has been simplified in a number of ways for the amateur.

With marine plywood and paper patterns it is possible to whip up a boat almost overnight. This boat will be as strong as the conventional make and light enough to carry atop an automobile.

While chatting with Atty. William E. "Bill" Anderson about our boat-building project he reported that one of the latest innovations is the use of spun glass cloth which is used to cover a boat and keep it watertight. Some people are even covering their old boats with it, he said.

GETTING STARTED—Our boat building project, like so many others we have planned, is off to a flying start.

Well, almost started, anyway. For when one of my friends asked me how the boat was coming it was necessary to tell him that I was still reading up on the subject. But I was going to get at it soon.

"If you wait a little while," said my friend cynically, "you can put runners on the bottom and have it ready for ice-boating next winter!"

But the world is filled with people who rush hastily into a project without adequate planning. And the plans for our row boat say you can keep the forms and make as many boats as you wish. If things go well we might want to launch a fleet.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

WORDS WE MIGHT HAVE HAD

Several months ago I related how the word "fascinate" was developed from the Latin word "fascinum," which was a charm or amulet. A Roman mother hung such a charm from the neck of her child to protect him from the power of the evil eye. This was a power supposed to be held by some people who merely by staring or looking fixedly at a child or an animal could bring harm upon it.

In Ireland, a person under the spell of the evil eye was said to be "eye-bitten," and the person suspected of casting the spell was an "eye-biter." These terms passed into England in the late sixteenth century, but, evidently, the scholars of that country thought the words were too ordinary. So, calling upon their knowledge of Latin, they came up with "fascinated" and "fascinator," which exactly met the needs and have been in use ever since.

Similarly, we might have had "again-rising" or "gain-rising." Both were actually in use back in Chaucer's time, the fourteenth century, but were replaced by "resurrection," which has the same meaning. At the same time a "bodeword," from "bode," to announce, was used for "announcement"; and "earthtiller" was a farmer or agriculturist, a word that might easily have remained in the language, as might also "tilman," another word for farmer.

Some words that might well have been retained are: "waterflight" for hydrophobia, if we care to hang on to the notion that animals afflicted with the disease actually fear water; "yearday" for anniversary; "bookcraft" for literature and "bookhouse" for library; "neednots" for superfluous; and "overwin" for vanquish. Each of these English words tells exactly the same thing as the Greek and Latin words that have replaced them and are more concise.

Armed Forces Day---1952

America's Armed Forces

Clad in blues and browns and greens,
These heroes do their chores;
Some quietly, behind the scenes,
Some where the battle roars.

Entrusted with men's treasured rights,
They work in unity;
Watching, guarding, winning fights,
To keep their nation free.

Grand Marais

Class Picnic
GRAND MARAIS—The fifth and sixth grades held their class picnic recently at Baker Creek with their teacher, Mrs. Joseph Drust. The champion fishermen were: Bobby Soldenski with a catch of ten, Sammy Lambert 9, David Carter 7, Bobby Baynton 5, John Hartman 2 and Everett Bugg, David Thomas, Edward Maynard and Pat Wood, one each. The unlucky fishermen who just got "back" were Francis Baldwin, Danny Hill, Billy Mixon, Jimmy Thorington, Edwin Senecal, Roger Abrahamson, Raymond Pettipren and Chuck Ylmaki. The girls were all kept busy digging worms and taking pictures of the catches. Girls in the class were Bonnie Knutsen, Shirley Mulligan, Janet Traeger, Judy Mulligan, Judy Walker, Janice and Janet Peterson, Adrienne Kallio, Janet LaCombe, Dawn Ostrander, Judy Roberts, Joanne Nyman and Sharon Miller. Even though the fishing was good Mrs. Drust reports they did manage to play a few games and eat their lunch.

Holy Name Meeting
The Holy Name Society of the Holy Rosary church held an election of officers, Wednesday. Henry Pettipren was elected president, Ora Endress, vice president and Claude McLean secretary-treasurer. Men attending the meeting were Lawrence Telier, Palmer Masse, Charles Bleckner, Joseph Drust, John Seymour, Herman Wood and Frank Lee. Fr. Casimir Mark appointed Henry Pettipren head usher and will appoint the rest in the near future. A program was also laid out for the painting of the church, inside and out and for the men's part in the summer activities which will begin in June.

VFW Meeting
The VFW Auxiliary held a business meeting Wednesday in the VFW hall. Members present were Mrs. William Lefebvre, Mrs. Margaret Hebert, Mrs. Margaret Gauthier, Mrs. Clement Soldenski, Mrs. Anna Wicklund, Erna Soldenski, Patricia Drust, Mrs. Douglas Savage, Mrs. John Peterson, Mrs. Mary Lefebvre. Following the meeting a lunch was served by hostesses Mrs. William Lefebvre

A Creed For Free Enterprise

By Clarence B. Randall
The Businessman and the Community

These articles are based on a forthcoming Atlantic Monthly Press-Little Brown and Company book, "A Creed For Free Enterprise," by Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co.

Skilled leadership in an industrial organization is not enough. It will increase production, which the free world needs desperately, but of itself it will not solve the social problems that threaten to destroy the very system of production upon which our national welfare depends.

Our blind spot as businessmen is our failure to sense compelling personal responsibility for the perpetuation of that system, our naive belief that we have done our part when we break the production records, and that we may leave to others the defense of free enterprise. There are no others. Christianity was not carried to the heathen by atheists, nor communism to the satellites by capitalists.

We and we alone must be the ones to hold aloft the symbol of our faith that the driving power and infinite ingenuity or private initiative make more people happy than planning by the cloistered few.

Words Fall On Deaf Ears
But to win converts we must have an audience, and right now our public isn't listening. Our words fall on deaf ears, not because they lack truth, but rather because of who we are that speak them. The American businessman is no longer the natural leader in his community. His father and his grandfather were. They cut the forest, broke the prairie to the plow, and built crude forges to make iron, but they also hewed with their own hands the timbers for the village church, and set aside section 16 in every township for the school. The miracle of production had not yet wrought its hypnosis on the minds of men to whom God gave the gift of leadership, and they knew that the welfare of all was the responsibility of each.

We have far outstripped them in tons per man, but are unworthy sons in terms of civic consciousness. How vast and immediate would be the enhancement of our prestige if every industrial leader who breaks a production record could also be pointed to as the man who broke a record in character forming, better schools, and better politics.

The means by which we do this are at hand, even in the great metropolitan areas. We are a nation of voluntary organizations, and it may be that when the history of our times is written that characteristic will stand out as our most revolutionary contribution to the advancement of human welfare by democratic processes.

It is the precise antithesis to central planning, for it preserves the wisdom of the many while harnessing the power of aroused individual responsibility. In the twenties it was fashionable to laugh at all this, to ridicule Babbitt, but in the sober fifties we are still trying to recapture the values lost in the complacency and sophistication of those years.

Democracy At Work
Certainly, it is this characteristic which today distinguishes Europe from the United States in the general attack on social problems. They have only the most rudimentary and feeble counterparts for our voluntary associations of citizens who share a common interest and are determined to strive unselfishly and tirelessly to achieve a common end. Personally, I am glad that Babbitt was an American. Let them have socialism, let them have the dead hand of collectivism where the government knows all and does all, while the citizen waits for someone else to do it, but give me the hustle and earnestness of the Rotary, the League of Women Voters, the Community Chest, the Red Cross, and all that infinite variety of committee action that is indigenous to America. It is sometimes ludicrous, and often wasteful, but it is democracy at work. Only I wish that we might see more such committees headed by a businessman, instead of by his public relations officer or a professional uplifter.

Take the Community Chest, for example, or as we call it in Chicago, the Community Fund. Can any accomplishment of our technology surpass in significance this unique American invention for clearing away the human wreckage which our mass production has brought in its train? When industry faces up to its obligations to the social agencies represented by its Community Chest, it recognizes that social problems are here to stay, that hereafter there will be no social vacuums, and that either we will meet the needs of our communities in forthright fashion by voluntary effort, or government will step in, thus marching us another long step down the road toward socialism and the ultimate extinguishment of free enterprise.

The Hidden Distress
We cannot have it both ways: we cannot pursue our own interests and ignore those of others, for if we turn our backs on the community, it will shortly turn its back on us.

All of this is clearly perceived by any large company which moves into a remote area to build a new plant. Workmen must be attracted, and the personnel manager is keenly sensitive to the fact that no proud American who has the required skills will move his family out into the sticks where they must live under subnormal conditions, just for money. So the company lays out an attractive town site, builds modern homes, and sets about seeing that there are schools and hospitals and churches, and all the things that make for good living.

But when the same social needs are concealed beneath the drab blankets of confusion and the impersonal vastness of a great city, not so many corporate executives have the imagination and character to sense a direct necessity for effort on their part with respect to the hidden distress.

Let a frail and elderly lady fall to the sidewalk on a busy street and ten men in that block will rush to her aid. If she is obviously in want there is sure to be one who will take her home in a cab, and as he leaves he will press a ten dollar bill in her hand, his heart warm for the rest of the day because of what he has done.

But give him a card from the Community Fund representing a call of solicitation he should make on a neighboring firm, that all frail women in that great city who are in want may have a ten dollar bill pressed into their hands by a trained social worker, and he may put it off for a week, or perhaps not do it at all.

Accepting Responsibility
Then what about corporate giving, the direct money contributions from business as such to the voluntary agencies that exist about us for advancement of the welfare of the society which bestows on us the privilege of production for private profit?

I hold the deep conviction, of course, that the meeting of the social needs of the community is a proper charge to the cost of production. It is not charity, but the acceptance of responsibility. I note, for example, that Russia has no community fund no private business either. Time was when corporation lawyers wrote pro- a gift to a hospital, or a library, or a college was ultra vires, beyond the powers of the board of directors as expressed in the charter, but a most whole- some up-surge of public opinion with regard to this important subject is fast breaking down that barrier. How can it be ultra vires for a corporation to strive to preserve the form of society which alone makes possible the continuation of the business?

Take the case of a company that operates a plant in Chicago. More than likely it has stock- holders in each of the forty-eight states. Is it reasonable to suppose that a stockholder owning twenty shares who lives in Rhode Island will be aware of the serious deficit at a colored hospital on Chicago's south side, and so moved by the need, that he will write to inquire if a campaign is on and send in a contribution??

Yet if that hospital is just around the corner from the plant and the company ignores its manifest and urgent need, the neighborhood will deteriorate, good workmen will move away, production will fall, and dividends will have to be curtailed.

German Treaty Declared Legal

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
BONN, Germany—(AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer triumphed over his socialist opposition in the court Friday and won approval to go ahead next week with the signing of treaties to rearm West Germany and ally it with the west.

Earlier today Allied and German negotiators, after an all-night session, announced they would complete on Monday all but a few clauses of the proposed peace contract and that the Big Three foreign ministers would come here late next week to settle those points and sign the treaty with Adenauer.

Adenauer's legal victory came in the federal constitutional court at Karlsruhe, which rejected a Socialist petition that the chancellor be forbidden to sign the peace contract and its companion European Army treaty to raise 400,000 German troops for western defense.

The court ruled Adenauer's signing of the pact would be legal, since they must be ratified by the federal parliament. That left it up to the Socialists to try defeating ratification.

Spokesmen for the Allies and Germans announced after their 18-hour, all-night session they had reached agreement on 25 points in the contract, leaving only five to finish in their final meeting Monday.

Per capita use of telephones has doubled in Italy since the beginning of World War II and one Italian in every 45 now has a phone.

Convict Revolts Don't Add Up

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—Being just a stranger here myself, I feel a touch like Miss Alice in the Wonderland when I keep reading about the prisoners everywhere doing things to the captors in the fine name of free enterprise, or something.

No living man can make heads or tails out of this business in Kojima Island, not even the people who are there and writing about it. All I know is that a general, or two generals, dumb enough to get abducted by the prisoners and still dumber to make a lot of foolish deals with the prisoners are not worthy of being generals in even such a burlesque military operation as is the thing in Korea.

The air of unreality thickens as you hear tell of the lengthy conference on the teletype, and the complete foolishness of the press conference in which this silly Gen. Dodd answers no questions. What kind of war they run out there I don't know, any more than I know what kind of penal system they operate here.

No Civil Liberties
The first law of putting people in jail is that they have no civil liberties as construed by the four freedoms. People in jail are supposed to do what the man says. They are not supposed to take the man and tell him to do what they say.

On the same page of the paper that says, "Clark reads the riot act to Dodd and Colson," there is a subsidiary story which says "Four cons flee Texas prison farm, kidnap mother, girl, as hostages." It seems to me that lately I have read nothing that has to do with anything but revolt of guys who have no right to revolt, whether they be civil convicts or military convicts.

The flouting of authority appears to be endemic, not only in the nation, but in the world. We had the recent rash of refusals to fly by officers of our own Air Force, and mostly they seem to have gotten away with it.

What appears to have happened is a world revolution of people who have no right to revolt, if that is a verb. Fliers are supposed to fly, and not argue. Prisoners are supposed to stay put, with no bargaining powers. Prisoners of war are supposed to obey the rules that made them prisoners of war. They are not supposed to have agents, and, certainly, generals and wardens are supposed to run their own shows, else they would not be generals or wardens in the first place.

Must Have A System

It is possible that I sound slightly fascist, but, holy heaven, the reason you shove people into jails and PW camps and U. S. Air Forces in the first place is that you have taken away the civil liberties that allow them to be indignant out loud. If they are unhappy it is part of the price they pay for being wicked or getting captured or being recalled.

Slight order and some discipline is part of a system, and you have to have some sort of a system to run a railroad or a world. Violation of the system shows up a frightening weakness in the administration of the system, which will wreck it if you let it run.

If this mock general, Dodd, who got himself captured in a camp his prisoners seem to run, and if his successor, Colson, who got canned, are allowed to remain in the Army, I am losing a lot of faith in the Army. A guy who can't handle so slight a chore as keeping a flock of captives in line ain't much of a warrior, in my book.

The same applies to all the wardens of the prisons that have made so many headlines lately. A prison is not a union hall. It is a place you put people to keep them away from other people because they have acted so bad other people are not safe in their vicinity. You cannot correct in a prison; you control. If you can't control 'em you are a real lousy jailer, and deserve to step down.

Recently I have felt that the entire world has gone mad, and I suspect I may be right. The news would seem to substantiate the theory that down is up, right is wrong, and authority is strictly for the birds.

Youngsters Adrift In Boat Rescued

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—(AP)—Two young boys were playing in a boat anchored in the Milwaukee River when one of them unfastened the rope that held it.

It slipped from his hands and two scared kids went floating down the river. Three cops came and started after them in a rowboat. They hitched a ride with a motorboat and caught the drifters after they had floated 300 yards.

The youngsters, Richard Kleszynski, 9, and Ronald Romleski, 8, were more scared of the "visit" with their parents than they had been in the boat.

You Get MORE for Your Paycheck BECAUSE OF ADVERTISING

Because Advertising
... brings you news about better products you need
... tells you where to get what you want when you want it
... makes lower prices possible through mass production and mass selling

Yet Picture How Little All This Costs

For instance, it costs less than 1/4¢ a gallon to advertise the most famous brands of gasoline. Any other method of selling would cost the manufacturer more and therefore raise the price. Otherwise he wouldn't use advertising.

Time On Your Hands Is Ghost Of Middle Years

This is the last of six articles by a noted woman medical advisor who shows women the sound and sensible approach to middle age. Dr. Adele Streeseeman is an authority on psychosomatic medicine and has also practiced industrial medicine and served as a psychiatric consultant.

ADELE E. STREESEMAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Time on your hands. It's one of the gray ghosts of the middle years. The children are gone, the house is empty, your husband has his business to keep him occupied. Your deepest yearning is for continued self-importance.

At first, just amusing yourself seems enough. You play Canasta or you experiment with make-up or you join a sewing club through your church. But after awhile, these things don't seem quite enough. Not after all the full, busy years.

Perhaps you decide to volunteer for work at some charitable or social organization. They give you work, true, but maybe it's only washing cups and saucers. After awhile, it doesn't seem very worthwhile or noble and so you quit. You're back where you started.

You can't prepare for the time you'll have on your hands in middle-age by putting the whole thing off until the time actually arrives. Not any more than you can take a cruise in your middle-age on money you haven't saved.

Welcome the Change
While you're young, face the fact that you will have time on your hands when your children are grown and the house is empty. Don't just face the fact, welcome it.

You'll have the companionship of your husband, true. And this will be invaluable to you. But you will also want to exist as an interesting person in your own right, too, to have the opportunity to throw your weight into the world as a human being.

Start now, while you're young, to decide what it is you want to do. Huddling with other women in the same puddle won't solve your problem. Some women, I've found, try eating more. The only thing that happens is that they gain weight. Others I've known run to lectures—any lectures will do—just to fill up time.

Consider first and foremost just what you want to do. Remember that you should continue to grow and develop as a person as long as you live. Adult education isn't just for people who haven't had a formal education in their youth.

Work At It Early
When you've decided, work at your interest whenever you can during the busy years, so that you have a feel for it. Then, when the time does come, it won't seem like taking a cold plunge to develop it into a full-time interest.

If you do pick some sort of volunteer work, remember that there are many opportunities for service if you're not looking for glory. And remember, too, that in such service you find rich rewards as you develop skill and understanding in handling people.

The problems of middle-age, like all other problems, can't be solved by a wave of the fairy god-mother's wand. To find the right solutions, it takes courage, foresight and a blueprint.

Isabel Bushey, Clarence Gelina Married Today

Miss Isabel Bushey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Bushey, 1408 N. 23rd St., and Clarence Gelina spoke their marriage vows before Father Arnold Thompson in a 10 a. m. ceremony today at St. Thomas the Apostle Church.

Spring flowers were arranged with the altar candles for the service. Music of the wedding mass was sung by the church choir.

Bridal attendants were Miss Rose Marie Gelina, maid of honor, Miss Dolly Bushey, bridesmaid, James Bushey who was best man, Harold St. Aubin, groomsmen, and Shirley St. Aubin and Dennis Germain, flower girl and ring bearer.

Bride In Satin
The bride's gown of ivory satin had a lace yoke, tapered sleeves and a full circular train. Her veil of illusion was caught to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white snapdragons and roses.

The maid of honor wore pink and the bridesmaid, orchid, and their bouquets matched the flowers in their hair. The little flower girls' frock was blue and she carried a basket of spring flowers. Dennis, who carried the rings on a satin pillow, was dressed in white.

The bride's mother wore a spring tweed suit with yellow and green accessories and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Rose Gelina of 1407 N. 19th St., wore a navy and grey ensemble.

Breakfast And Reception
The wedding breakfast was served at Unity Hall and a reception for 150 guests is being held there. The three-tiered wedding cake centering the bride's table is topped with a tiny bridal couple surrounded by wedding bells and birds.

The young people are leaving for Milwaukee for their honeymoon.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lauze of Merrill, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Mose St. Aubin of Gwinn, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Germain, Princeton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bushey and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lantz and children, Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. John Lortz and Ethel Jean of Soo Hill, Mr. and Mrs. William Rodgers of Nahma, and Patsy St. Aubin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert St. Aubin of Gwinn.

Communion And Breakfast Sunday

The men of St. Joseph's parish accompanied by their wives will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 7:30 a. m. mass Sunday. Following the mass a communion breakfast will be served in the school club rooms. This is the annual tribute to womanhood of the Holy Name Society of the church. Reservations may be made with Dr. Frederick Hirn, 1770.

AS WE LIVE

Inattention Shows Lack Of Interest
By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
When a person is interested in what is going on, he pays close attention to it. When, however, he is bored, he will allow his attention to drift elsewhere. A polite person covers up his boredom to avoid hurting other people's feelings. The young couple, described in the following letter, show poor breeding by their inattention.

(Q) "We would like to know what makes this young couple act as they do. Whenever we or anyone else begins to speak to either of them, they will look at you and seem interested in your first few words. Then they will turn their heads around and look at someone else or even speak to someone else. In short, they make you feel as if they were not in the least bit interested. When they do this, my husband will close his mouth and not say another word. These people both attended college and are supposed to be well educated. How should we act when they behave like this to us?"

(A) Unless you are fond enough of this couple to want to put up with their rudeness, why not scratch them off your list. Surely it cannot be satisfying to have a person turn away from you while you are talking and talk to someone else. It implies that they are not interested in you or what you have to say.

Most people react as your husband does under such circumstances. After all, why should he or you put yourselves out to be agreeable to people who act as if they are bored with what you are saying? There are plenty of agreeable people, so why waste your time on people who actually hurt your feelings or insult you?

Having a college education has nothing to do with a person's manners or lack of manners. Colleges assume that their students know the common courtesies of life when they come to college and, therefore, they do not try to teach them manners. Your friends are selfish and self-centered, thinking primarily of themselves and their interests rather than of other people. That is why they are so inconsiderate of others. Their trouble stems from a personality weakness, not from the amount of education they have had.

Dr. Hurlock is author of 12 books in psychology. Her advice in this column is free. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Dessert Bridge Closing Meeting Of Woman's Club

A dessert bridge will be held Wednesday, May 21, at 1:30 at the Escanaba Golf Club as the final meeting of the year for the Escanaba Women's Club. At the meeting, the charter members will be honored.

Mrs. John Lemmer has been appointed chairman of the event.

Miss St. Jacques Is The Bride Of Ralph J. LaFave

Bouquets of spring flowers adorned the altar of St. Anne's Chapel this morning for the 9 o'clock wedding ceremony of Miss Elizabeth Ann St. Jacques and Ralph Joseph LaFave. The vows of the young couple were solemnized by the Rev. Fr. James McNaughton. The choir of St. Ann sang the traditional wedding music.

Miss St. Jacques is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas St. Jacques. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest LaFave, 2315 Ludington St., are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon net with a lace bodice, lace applique marking the net yoke, long tapering sleeves, and a double skirt of net over satin which formed a court train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was gathered to a braided coronet of satin. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

In Pastel Shades
Mrs. Carl Westerberg, the matron of honor, was in pastel blue, and Miss Patricia Garrett, the only bridesmaid, wore pink. Their gowns were styled like the bride's with lace bodices and double net skirts over taffeta. They wore open crown picture hats and mitts of matching shades.

Members of her committee are: Mesdames G. E. Christie, Earl Brown, Nathan Frenn, Donald LeMire, J. J. Poffenberger, Paul Wohlen, K. F. Harrington, J. J. Walch, Harold Lindsay, H. J. Defnet, August Lundgaard, Fred Lundgaard, and Denis McGinn.

Answer To Waistline Problem Announced By Rexall Druggist

With 25,000,000 Americans overweight by at least twenty pounds, the health organizations, the medical profession and insurance companies have begun a concerted drive to point out to the American public that "your waistline is your lifeline."

One of the few people in this country who can say "I told you so" is Ann Delafield, famed reducing expert and beauty authority. As head of a famous Fifth Avenue salon and author of numerous articles of expert guidance on the subject, Miss Delafield holds what must be the world's record for master-minding the disappearance of literally thousands of tons of unsightly, unhealthy and certainly unwanted fat.

But, characteristically, Miss Delafield isn't content to sit back and look smug as well as handsome as the all-out battle against bulges begins. She has come up with a new kind of answer which many medical and pharmaceutical authorities feel may be THE answer. She worked out a new formula for a supplementary food water, non-fattening and low calorie, which is prescribed to be eaten between meals as an appetite appeaser (a "willpower pill," Miss Delafield describes it), allowing you to eat a normal amount of food and quieting craving for excessive eating or gnawing hunger at or between meals. The wafer (which is also delicious to the taste) is part of a new weight reducing "package," called the Ann Delafield Appetite Reducing Plan, which the Rexall Drug Company has placed on sale in their outlets throughout the country. In addition to the month's supply of the wafers, the package contains a month's supply of vitamin capsules and Ann Delafield's new book to follow step by step as you reduce—and afterward, to give you your new figure, new face and new personality their full glamour quotient.

Mr. Goodman of Goodman's Rexall Drug at 1018 Ludington Street announced today that the new Ann Delafield Appetite Reducing Plan has arrived at his store. As one of 10,000 of the independent druggists associated with the Rexall Drug Company who are releasing this Plan simultaneously throughout the nation, Goodman's Rexall Drugs are exclusive distributors for this area. The introductory package is priced at $6.95, with the repeat package for $5.95 for those who continue the course.

(Advertisement)

Mrs. Westerberg's colonial bouquet was of blue carnations, while Miss Garrett carried a like bouquet of pink.

Little Mary Ann Westerberg acted as the flower girl. Her gown was a miniature of the bridal attendants' gowns, and she carried a tiny colonial bouquet of pastel shaded spring flowers. The rings for the double ring ceremony were carried by Robert LaFave.

Robert St. Jacques, the brother of the bride, served as best man for Mrs. LaFave. Other attendants were Richard DeGrand, groomsmen, and Edsel P. Bedard and Lawrence J. Boudreau, ushers.

Mrs. LaFave chose a dress of navy blue and white rayon for her son's wedding. Her corsage was of white carnations. The two grandmothers of the bride couple were presented with corsages of white gladioli.

Immediately following the service, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's parents. Approximately 150 persons attended.

After a wedding trip to Milwaukee, the newlyweds, who are both graduates of Escanaba Senior High school, will make their home at 120 S. 11th St. Mr. LaFave is with Shaw Cleaners, while his bride is employed at St. Francis Hospital.

Attending the wedding from out-of-town were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Gerald St. Jacques and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keane, Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. Adrian LaVigne and daughter, Janet, Lake Linden, Mich.; Raymond Houle, who is home on furlough from Clarksville, Tenn.; and Rosemary LaBranche and Audrey Beach of Milwaukee.

LUDINGTON BUY-LINES

FOR the little lady who will lead a man to the altar this Spring, Marcell's Shoppe has trousseau lingerie of delicate beauty. The bride may be nervous, but underneath it all she's thrilled with Kayser nylon lingerie — world famous in name — world shaking in beauty. At Marcell's exclusive shop the bride-to-be can select matching sets of slip, panties and gown in this superb New York lingerie. For a trousseau that's very special she will also want to add a blouse or two from Marcell's collection for the discriminating. Trot down the bridal path to Marcell's!

SOME parties are formal; some others you wear your own clothes! In Escanaba when the party is formal, smart men rent the proper formal attire from Anderson-Bloom, the men's store of distinction! Impeccable white dinner jackets and black trousers may be rented at this fine haberdashery at a reasonable price. Fitting should be made ten days or so in advance of the big night. You'll like the friendly service at Anderson-Bloom. Better to have a rent in your budget than to let a big purchase tear it apart! See Anderson-Bloom soon!

WHAT does the bride think when she walks into the church?—Aisle, altar, hymn!... Yes, certain things have to be altered in this changing world, but the gracious traditions of beauty and good taste in the wedding remain—even gain importance with the years. Nowhere are these wedding traditions more evident than in the Paper Trousseau. At the Office Service Company future brides may choose their bridal stationery from Crane's fine quality papers. Either engraved or processed invitations, announcements, at-home and calling cards are found in complete selection, yet all within the rigid rules of correct social usage. You choose the man—OSCO will choose the paper—Crane's!

GIRLS will be girls and so will a lot of middle-aged women at a bridge party! And what I heard the "girls" saying between bids the other night is that Gardner's dresses can really take you down to size. Seeing is believing, so I dashed down to find a pretty new brown cotton check in half sizes, a marvelous shipment of new nylon frocks at just $10.95, and some fresh new Bernberg prints. And the girls were right—size ranges included wonderful, buys in 9 to 15, 10 to 20 and 12½ to 24½. The new nylons are darling dotted sheers in blue, lavender and pink and a beige print. If you're looking for a new frock, do stop at Gardner's and size them up for yourself!

THE best gifts are always tied with heartstrings. That's why I say the best of your heart is really heard in the tick of a Lady or Lord Elgin watch when you give it to your favorite graduate. I saw one dainty Lady Elgin watch at Blomstrom and Petersen for only $55! Other fine watches to choose from, too, at this quality jewelry store; many styles and prices of Gruens, Hamiltons, and Bulovas. And I couldn't help but take a peek at the sparkling Spring jewelry in the next counter! Remember, you're "watching" your graduate with love in your heart when you give a watch from Blomstrom and Petersen!

A GOLD digger has the gift of a grab! But all that glitters is not gold—some of it is Jeweler's Bronze from Eden's—a gift to grab! What could make a better golden wedding gift than a piece of this handsome, shining golden metal fashioned into a graceful table centerpiece? You will find bowls of all sizes, trays made for hors d'oeuvres with a removable center section, and an especially pretty set of candle holders with a small vase and candlestick. Get a likeness of your affection cast in bronze from Eden's Gift Shop!

WHEN a girl graduates she should have some scents—and a bottle to keep it in! Perfume bottles of unusual beauty are among the fine array of gifts for graduates at the Photo Art Shop. A l s o leather diaries; photo albums and scrap books; distinctive stationery for both men and women; musical powder boxes and, of course, cameras of every price and description! And the finishing touch is one of the famous graduation greeting cards from Photo Art!

IN order to make a place in the sun, you have to be a shade better than the next fellow. That's why the picture at the Michigan Theater starting Sunday is tops—it's "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie"—a sunny picture in glorious Technicolor that takes you from the horse and buggy to the streamlined limousine. There's handsome David Wayne and also Jean Peters who loved her husband, but not the life he wanted. Be sure to see "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie"—the love story, the music, the heartbeat of a nation growing up! A picture you'll take a shine to!

Next Week Is Clean Up-Paint Up Week In Escanaba

Citizens Asked To Cooperate

Next week is "Clean Up-Paint Up Week" in Escanaba—a period devoted to emphasizing that a cleaner and more attractive city is a better community in which to live.

Sponsored by the retail committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and the City of Escanaba, "Clean Up-Paint Up Week" is designed to direct the attention of citizens to the importance of keeping their property and premises neat and in good repair.

Mayor Robert E. LeMire has by proclamation called upon the people to cooperate in making the week successful, and the campaign coincides with the city's annual spring cleaning program.

Property Protection
One of the major objectives of "Clean Up-Paint Up Week" is the reduction of fire and safety hazards in the homes and business places of the community.

Cleaner premises results in property protection. Removal of waste paper and other fire hazards, raking and cutting to eliminate the fire danger of dead grass and weeds, and spring check-up on the condition of flues and chimneys are aids to safety.

Spring is also the best time for home painting and repairs. A good coat of paint protects and lengthens the life of any structure and aids in making houses into attractive homes.

Many an old house, well cared for and located in an attractive setting, has greater value than a newer but neglected dwelling.

Pride In Ownership
New lawns and lawn re-seeding and repair is best undertaken at this time of the year.

This is also the time to begin planting flowers and shrubs to make the home site attractive and to add to the satisfaction in living. Hardy perennials will flower year after year with little attention, while annual flowers will provide colorful blooms a few weeks after planting.

Interiors should not be neglected as part of the Paint Up-Clean Up campaign. Often the home or shop can be given new life and color with little more than new paint and wallpaper.

Pride in ownership, reflected in well cared for homes and business places, pays dividends in longer life and increased property values—and the satisfaction of living in a more attractive community.

Armed Forces Raise Approved

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Only President Truman's signature is needed to produce a long-promised pay increase for the uniformed services.

A compromise measure aimed at offsetting somewhat the higher cost of living whizzed through the House and then the Senate after months of disputes and delays.

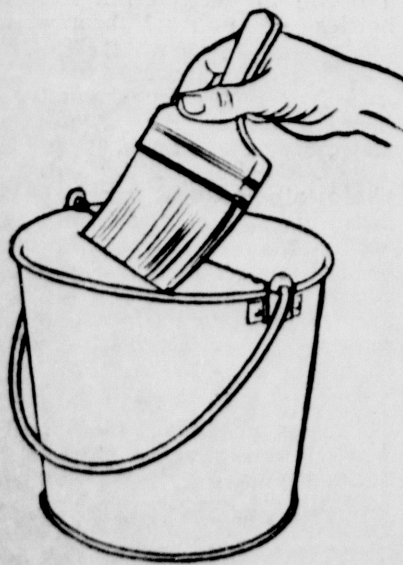

All those in the armed forces, expected to number about 3½ million during the coming year, will get a 4 per cent boost in base pay, which is subject to taxes, and a 14 per cent increase in allowances for food and housing, which are not taxed.

The increase will add an estimated 484 million dollars a year to the government's payroll.

The measure was approved 333 to 0 in the House and then Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) won Senate passage without objection. Only five of the 95 other senators were present.

If the President approves the measure, as expected, the increases will become effective this month.

Make Do

(AP Newsfeatures)
A GALVANIZED household pail, set aside for decorating use, makes any paint job easier and neater. It eliminates spattering when stirring and mixing paint. A wire across the top makes it easy to wipe excess paint from the brush. After the job is done, rinse the pail with turpentine, rub clean with newspaper and store for the next paint task.

Cornell

Mrs. Forsman Honored
CORNELL—Mrs. Lena Forsman was honored on her birthday anniversary, Monday, May 12, when a group of friends gathered at her home to celebrate the occasion. A tasty lunch was served at an attractively decorated table centered by a white birthday cake.

Many lovely gifts were presented to Mrs. Forsman. Mrs. Alfred Dahl received the guest award.

Attending were Mrs. Charles Harrison, Mrs. Axel Carlson, Mrs. Alfred Anderson, Mrs. Henry Rose, Mrs. Alfred Dahl Sr., Mrs.

Alfred Dahl Jr., Mrs. LeRoy White, Mrs. Eugene Gamache, and Mrs. John Backlund.

Briefs

Gus McFadden, Oral Thompson, Alfred Dahl, LeRoy White, Morten Schire, and Grey Knaus attended the presidents' and secretaries' meeting of the Lions Club, which was held Tuesday evening in Manistique.

Cf. El. Ed Schmidt and his family have arrived from Norfolk, Va., to visit at the August A. Lundgaard home. From here, they will go to Green Cove Springs, Fla., where Ed will be stationed. Mrs.

Schmidt is the former Mary Lundgaard.

The Chase

Simple, Attractive,
Rooms On One Floor

Rooms ..... Four Bedrooms ..... Two
Closets ..... Seven
Cubage ..... 20,800'
Garage ..... 6,880'
Dimensions
House ..... 40'x25'
Overall ..... 69'x26'
The good sized entry hall contains a large coat closet in its back wall. A large open archway in the left wall leads to the 19'x15'6" living room. This spacious, pleasant room is destined to see lots of use both as a family gathering spot and also as an entertainment center for friends.

Three windows in the front wall provide plenty of light as well as good ventilation; they vie with the large fireplace, centered in the left wall, for top decorative honors. Open bookshelves flanking the fireplace provide plenty of conveniently located storage space for all the family's books.

Since the living room must serve also as a dining room in "The Chase" place the dining room set near the back wall. This long unbroken wall area could easily accommodate a buffet or a storage cabinet for your china, glass and silverware. The door in the end of the right living room wall provides quick and easy access to the kitchen through the connecting hallway.

A spacious broom closet is placed just opposite the door leading from the connecting hallway. This closet is large enough to hold all types of cleaning equipment; is conveniently located for the lady of the house regardless of what room she may be cleaning.

Working counters, cupboards and cabinets line the back and right walls of the kitchen, with the sink centered under one of the windows in the back wall. The refrigerator is placed at the end of the line of working counters in this 16'x7'6" room where it is just a few steps away from the stove against the front wall. You'll appreciate that extra counter beside the stove when you're preparing your family's meals. Receiving light and ventilation through two windows, the breakfast nook is located in the left front corner of the kitchen. This area is large enough to be used for any of the family meals when you may not feel like serving in the more formal dining-living room.

Useful Piazza

Stairs to the full cement basement lead down from the kitchen directly opposite the door to the 14'x10' piazza. In addition to providing protected entrance to the garage, through a door in its right wall, this piazza can be used for a multitude of useful purposes. If you have this porch either screened or glassed in, you can use it as an extra dining or sleeping area.

While a two-car garage, measuring 20'x19', is specified in the plan of "The Chase" you can have a one-car garage constructed in its place if a smaller garage is better suited to your needs. However, if you feel you will need a two-car garage at some later date, although you do not at present, you can meanwhile use the extra space for storage.

Even though you have two ample area in the garage for cars at present you'll still find overhead storage of screens and storm windows as well as room for keeping garden tools, a lawn mower, etc. Under either the window in the left or the one in the back wall would make an excellent location for a work bench for the home handyman.

Both bedrooms are located at the right end of the house. Measuring 14'x10', the back bedroom is assured of good light and cross ventilation from one window in the back wall and one in the right wall. There is a large closet in the front wall of this room.

Designed to serve as the master bedroom, the front bedroom also is assured of good light and cross ventilation from windows on adjoining walls. Measuring 14'x12', this room has a large closet in the front wall, too.

Any housewife is certain to find good use for the general purpose closet, opening on the connecting hallway between the two bedrooms, and for the other general purpose closet, also opening on the connecting hallway but to the left of the bathroom.

Receiving ample light and ventilation through one window in the back wall, the large, all-modern bathroom contains both a tub and a shower. The unusually large linen closet, located across the hall from the bathroom, is conveniently near to the bedrooms as well as to the bathroom; is large enough to easily hold a good supply of fresh bed linen as well as towels.

In the basement of "The Chase" the heating equipment should be placed under the living room; the laundry under the kitchen or bathroom.

Turtle Goes To Jail For Wrecking Gardens

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—When neighbors complained about a repulsive-looking thing trampling their gardens, police found a 50-pound, 2-foot long snapping turtle.

A patrolman finally wrestled the turtle into a police car and took the offender to the police station. The turtle was thrown in the clink.

Roger Conant, curator at the zoo, said the turtle probably had been in captivity for some time. If the owner couldn't be found, he said, the zoo would gladly take the reptile.

May 23 And 24 Are Poppy Days

May 23 and 24 have been designated Poppy Day in Manistique, it is announced by John B. Nessman, commander of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Lionel Mercier has been named poppy chairman. Under his direction a corps of women will be mobilized to sell the poppies on the streets during the two days.

"We are going to need the additional funds that will be made available through this year's sale," Nessman said. "We are confronted with the heaviest veteran welfare load in the history of our organization. Inflation has brought hardships to many veterans and their dependents. We are particularly interested in the welfare of disabled veterans who receive inadequate assistance from the federal government in the form of disability compensation or pension checks. The cost of living has spiraled upward for these men just as it has for other persons. But these veterans and their families are dependent upon the income that was fixed by Congress when rent, clothing and food were considerably lower than they are today."

"Please remember the men who can't forget," Nessman said, in urging liberal purchase of poppies during the sale. "The money which is given to this cause will be spent exclusively for veterans benefits and relief of needy dependents of veterans," he stated.

Miss Lois Rozich Is Graduated From School Of Nursing

Miss Lois Rozich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rozich, 215 W. Cedar St., Manistique, Mich., was graduated from the Presbyterian hospital school of nursing in Chicago on Thursday, May 15. Graduation exercises for the class of 59 nurses was held in Fourth Presbyterian church. Dr. Franklin B. Snyder, president of the hospital, awarded the diplomas and introduced the speaker—Dr. Harold Blake Walker, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Evanston. A student chorus of 60 voices furnished the music.

Miss Rozich will not complete her clinical experience until September. Until then she will wear the student uniform, and live in the new 15 story residence and school building which was dedicated May 4.

Miss Rozich is a graduate of Manistique high school, class of 1949.

Senior Play Scores Hit

An outstanding senior play, "Cheaper by the Dozen", was presented to an appreciative audience Friday night in the Manistique high school auditorium.

The play, directed by Marvin Frederickson, was a comedy drama in three acts. Characters were superbly portrayed by the high school actors against a striking scenic background designed and built by the school art and shop departments.

A matinee for grade school children was presented Thursday afternoon in the auditorium. The play was publicized Friday afternoon by a parade of the high school band and a truck carrying the cast.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederickson and members of the cast were guests following the performance at the home of Mrs. Helen McGlothlin, 700 Arbutus Ave. Mrs. James Howland assisted Mrs. McGlothlin in serving the group.

The play cast follows: Mr. Gilbreth, Mac Howland; Mrs. Gilbreth, Ann McGlothlin; Ernestine, Margaret Mueller; Frank, James

Many Take Part In Opening Twilight Tourney Thursday

The Indian Lake Country Club was well represented at the special twilight tournament for men Thursday evening at the Indian Lake course.

Following nine holes of golf, members were luncheon guests of the club's board of directors.

A short business meeting followed, with R. G. Hentschell, club president, presiding. Plans were outlined for fencing the clubhouse area, painting a storage building, completing the annual membership drive, cutting wood for the club building fireplace, and finishing the reconditioning of the greens.

Fred H. Hahne, club secretary, reported that membership sales to date exceed those for the same date last season.

The first scheduled twilight tournament of the season's series will take place Thursday, May 22.

Spring Is Early . . .

This is about the time of year when spring normally returns to the north country. Usually it comes all at once—with the trees bursting into foliage suddenly in early or mid-May.

This year the green came gradually, as it does in the Ohio valley.

Now is the time, too, to get your late spring & summer wardrobe ready for the pleasant months ahead. Get out those sport clothes and let us clean, press and recondition them for the season.

High School PTA Meets Tuesday

Speakers at a regular meeting of the Junior-Senior High School Parent-Teacher Association in the high school auditorium next Tuesday evening will be Mrs. D. L. Graham, district director of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Mrs. M. A. Syfers, seventh district president.

This will be the final session before the school vacation period, and all members and friends are urged to be present.

The business session will open at 8 p. m., with John Viergever, president, in charge. In addition to the two speakers scheduled, Mrs. Adeline LaCroix, of Mueller township, will present a report on the mental health workshop at Elanoy.

Joseph L. Giovannini will have charge of musical entertainment at the session. Numbers to be presented include piano duets by Katherine Hall and Sally Stoor; a trumpet solo by Gordon Moore with Nicky Babladelis providing the piano accompaniment; and guitar and accordion duets by Janet Dixon and Tom Wilson.

The program will be concluded with an open discussion period. Any questions, problems or requests pertaining to the organization will be in order, and it is urged that all feel free to take an active part in the discussion.

Refreshments will be served by mothers of twelfth grade students, with Mrs. William A. Corson as general chairman.

Bridge Club
Mrs. Gertrude Morrison, 507 Manistique Ave., entertained members of her bridge club recently at her home.

Prizes were given to Mrs. Howard Holland, Mrs. Bud Malloy and Mrs. Peter Babladelis. Lunch was served later.

Vocal Groups To Present Concert

The vocal music department of Manistique high school will present "Musical Moods" in the high school auditorium at 8:15 p. m. next Thursday, May 22, it is announced by Miss Gretchen Shirck, public school music director.

"Religious, holiday, dance and romance moods will be featured," Miss Shirck said.

Groups taking part in the concert are the Mixed Chorus, Girls Glee Club, Girls Sextette, and the Mixed Octette.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from members of the Mixed Chorus or Girls Glee Club.

In 1947 geologists discovered that the entire top of the mountain named Cerro Bolivar, in Brazil, is composed of high-grade iron ore.

Pistol Club Will Have Banquet And Meeting Wednesday

The Manistique Rifle and Pistol Club will hold a banquet and business meeting Wednesday evening, May 21, at the club building at Manistique Heights, it is announced by Arthur Hough, president.

The banquet is scheduled for 6:30. Highlighting the business session will be discussion of prizes for the largest fish caught in the county, the biggest and smallest bucks shot next deer season, and the club's annual summer picnic.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our grateful appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their sympathetic consideration and aid during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved mother and brother. We especially want to thank Mr. George Drew for his consoling words, the pallbearers organizations and their auxiliaries, the National Guard, those who sent flowers and cards and those who loaned cars for the funeral. The memory of these many kindnesses will always be cherished by us.

Signed:

Boddy Pitches Eskymos To 2 To 1 Win Over Ishpeming

Lethander Fred Boddy tamed the Ishpeming Hematites here yesterday afternoon in a fine 2-1 pitching duel with Bob Sharland, giving the Escanaba Eskymos their fourteenth straight high school diamond win.

Boddy rationed out only four hits while whiffing fourteen batters. He allowed only one walk while going the entire seven innings for the Eskymos.

Three of the hits off Boddy came in the second inning in which Ishpeming scored its lone run. But the run followed an error in the outfield and was unearned.

That one Ishpeming run looked mighty big as Sharland, big righthander, whipped the ball over with blazing speed in the early innings. He fanned a half-dozen Eskey batters in the first three innings, but tired and was tagged for five hits in all.

Escanaba scored its first run in the bottom of the fourth. A single to short left by Charlie Bellefeuille scored Francis Arley, who had been hit by a pitched ball.

Escanaba clinched the win in the bottom of the seventh. Lead-off man Paul Baldwin drew a walk and shot for second on an attempted pick-off at first base, sliding into the bag safely. He advanced to third on a passed ball and raced home when Paul Davidson sliced a single off the third baseman's glove.

Two For Bellefeuille

Sharland fanned 10 but walked five in giving the Eskymos their toughest mound opposition this season.

Bellefeuille led Coach Jim Rouman's batters at the plate with a pair of singles. Herlala, Ishpeming shortstop, had two of the Ishpeming hits.

Graham Settles For Ring Draw

NEW YORK — (AP)—Except for a few slashes around the eyes, nobody got hurt.

That's the story of last night's Madison Square Garden bristling 10-round draw between Rocky Castellani of Luzerne, Pa., and Irish Billy Graham of New York's East Side.

Graham came out with two cut eyes and Castellani had a mark over his left eye. But their reputations remained undamaged.

The kid from the hard coal towns is more firmly established as an improved middleweight. A TKO loss to Ernie Durando Jan. 11 is his only loss in his last 15 starts.

A crowd of $5,394 fans (paying $18,385) to welcome boxing back to the Garden. They booed when Judge Frank Forbes voted for Graham 5-4-1 and cheered Judge Art Adala's 5-4-1 ballot for Castellani. When referee Ruby Goldstein called it 4-4-2 and all even with six points each, there was no argument. The AP card agreed with Goldstein.

TRACK WIN

ALBION, Mich. — (AP)—Albion college captured 12 of 15 first places here yesterday to win a triangular track meet from Adrian and Hillsdale. Albion amassed 106 1/2 points; Adrian 29 1/3; and Hillsdale 6 1/6.

Local Drivers Race In Stock Car Opener

The opening stock car races at the Norway Fairgrounds track will have a distinct Delta county flavor Wednesday night.

Escanaba and Gladstone cars and drivers will take part in the season's opener which gets under way with time trials at 7:30 and races at 8:30.

Jack Shiner's 1947 Ford, driven by Jack Marble, will be a strong contender for prize money. Shiner holds the Norway track record of 19.02 seconds, set two years ago and never approached.

Ed Dillabough, Gladstone, will have a '46 Ford driven by Lyle

Godfrey, in the races. Johnny McGear of Escanaba is entering and driving his own '41 Ford.

Al Wiles may enter one or both of his own cars, and Gobel or Pierpont has a pair of autos set for the opener. Joe Blazek will be driving one of them.

The opening stocks are expected to draw a large field of 35 cars Wednesday night. Entries are also expected from Menominee, Iron Mountain, Manistiquie, Norway, Quinnesec and Niagara.

Stock car races will be held at Norway each Wednesday night throughout the Summer.

American Record Falls In Relays

LOS ANGELES — (AP)—One American record was bettered and a crack field of International Olympic games candidates fell before Finland's Denis Johansson in the featured 1,500-meter run.

Those were the highlights of the 12th annual Los Angeles Coliseum relays last night unrelieved by 45,211 track and field enthusiasts in weather that was on the coolish side.

Sharing attention with these exploits by Johansson and 400-meter hurdler Charley Moore in a year of Olympic games interest were the two relay wins by Manhattan college's four-man sprint team, George Rhoden's win in the 400-meter run and the triumph of his teammate from Morgan State college, Art Bragg, in the 100-meter dash.

There were disappointments too, among them:

Andy Stanfield, the favorite from New York in the 100 meters pulled a leg muscle and bowed out of the race.

England's E. McDonald Bailey, co-holder of the world 100-meter record, ran a poor fourth.

Don Gehrmann, the Wisconsin mile king, finished a disappointing fifth in the 1,500-meter race, dominated almost from the start by Johansson, now a student at Purdue, and timed in 3:53.

NEW MARK

Moore, former national champion from Cornell eased in by 20 yards in 50-9 seconds. He held the old American record, set in 1949, at 51.1. The world record, set in Sweden in 1934, is 50.6 by Louisiana State University's Glenn Hardin.

America's greatest pole vaulters, Bob Richards and Don Laz, of the Illinois Athletic Club, wound up tied at 14 feet 8 inches. They failed at 15 feet.

Discus stars Fortune Gordien, the world record holder, and Sim Iness of Southern California, fared just so-so. Iness won at 174 feet 4 inches; Gordien hit 170 10 1/2. Darrow Hooper, Texas A & M, 169 10 1/2; and collegiate national champion Dick Doyle, Montana AC, 169 3 1/2.

The nation's best shot putters had it better. Jim Fuchs of New York Athletic Club got off one for 57 feet 3 1/2 inches.

Parry O'Brien, USC, had 56 6 3/4; Hooper 55 9 1/4; and Otis Chandler, U. S. Air Force, 54 7 1/4.

World record holder Rhoden won handily in the 400-meters at 46.6, and Bragg took the 100 meters in 10.5. Dean Smith of Texas was a close second in the 100.

The closest finish was the 110-meter high hurdles won in 14 seconds flat by Craig Dixon, former national champion from the LAAC.

Jack Davis, current collegiate champ from USC, was second; veteran Harrison Dillard third; and back a bit was the world record holder, Dick Attlesley of the Navy.

Manhattan's John O'Donnell, Joe Schatzle, Lindy Remigino and anchor man Bob Carty scored repeat wins in the 440-yard sprint relay in 40.7, and the 880-yard relay, in 1:24.4.

The mile relay went to Occidental's brilliant team in a fight with Manhattan. The time was the best in the nation this year, 3:13. Kansas previously had done 3:13.1.

In the 1,500 meters, Johansson finished 15 yards ahead of Warren Druetzler of the Army. Behind came Leonard Eyre of England, Bob McMillen, Occidental; Gehrmann; Fred Eckhoff, Norwegian star now enrolled in Oklahoma A&M, and George Phillips, UCLA.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

We received a letter late this week which should answer the question in many young baseball players' minds regarding the Cleveland Indian tryout camp which will be held here in July. Incidentally, the dates of the school are July 9-10-11 and 12 if the extra day is needed because of rain.

Here's what Nap Ross, Cleveland scout, says about the young players: "We cannot sign boys who are of Legion Junior baseball age, if they had played Legion ball last year, and are eligible for Legion ball this year. However, to clarify the thing, invite them all and we will look at them anyhow."

The Indians would like to arrange a game on the final day of the camp between the tryout all-stars and the Escanaba Bears or some other team from the area. That is difficult as most of the Bears are young players who will no doubt be taking part in the tryout camp. But at any rate a final-day game can be arranged to climax the tryout camp.

We understand that Ross will be in the Escanaba area on May 24, at which time he will have an opportunity to get a preview of the Escanaba Eskymo team in action. Coach Jim Rouman's Eskys will be host to Negaunee on that date. It will be young Jack Christie's turn on the Escanaba mound. The smooth-working righthander already has attracted the attention of some baseball scouts.

Bert Carlson, former Rapid River resident who is working hand-in-hand with the Cleveland club on the tryout camp here, is leaving his post at Manistee High School this year. Bert will go to Greenville, Mich., where he will be assistant in football and basketball and head coach in baseball. Greenville High is a large Class B school with an enrollment close to 700. It's located about 25 miles from Grand Rapids.

Managers Select Batteries For Sunday S-Ball Openers

Starting pitchers were named today for the opening softball games of the 1952 season slated Sunday night at Memorial Field.

The No Names face Power & Light in the first game at 6:30. Ike Eis will toe the slab and John Hirm will be catching for No Names while Bob Coriveau handles pitching and Wally Larson catching for Power & Light.

In the middle game the White Birch boys will send Leo Lancour and Harry Lancour into action facing Paper Mill's battery of Paul Larson and Don LeHouillier.

The windup will pit Harnischfeger, with John Pierpont and Dale Wood the battery, against the Dells with Ken Dufresne or Louie Kostike on the hill and Bobby Anderson behind the plate.

An opening day ceremony will be staged between the first and second games, at about 7:45. City Recreation Director Art Petersen will present an inaugural address and officers of the Escanaba Softball Association will be introduced.

Mayor Robert LeMire will toss out the first ball with Cliff Beaudin Jr., president of the Softball Association, on the receiving end.

Two Teams Hot On Illini Heels

CHICAGO—(AP)—Pace-setting Illinois had a triple header tap at Ohio State today as the Big Ten baseball race got hotter with Michigan and Minnesota snapping at the heels of the Illini.

Rain wiped out a scheduled single game between Illinois and Ohio State yesterday, so it will be played this morning and a previously booked twin bill this afternoon.

Michigan yesterday beat Indiana 6-3 for its seventh victory against three setbacks. The Wolverines, who now trail Illinois (7-2) by only a half-game, today are host to Purdue in a twin bill.

Minnesota's Paul Giel yesterday notched his third shutout and ran his string of scoreless innings to 26 with a seven-hit, 9-0 blanking of Wisconsin.

Purdue invades Michigan fresh from yesterday's 7-5 conquest at Michigan State. The Spartans today are host to Indiana in a double-header.

Twilight League Play Begins At Golf Clubs

Twilight league play at the Escanaba and Highland Golf Clubs will open next Tuesday, committee chairmen announced today.

At the Escanaba club, Chet Morton, sports committee member, asked all players to cooperate with the arranging of individual matches. "If you are unable to play, please call your opponent," he said. "Otherwise our pairings will be mixed up and someone will not have the opportunity of playing in a match."

Twilight play starts at 4 p. m., at the Escanaba club and supper will be served starting at 6.

Chairman Whitney Dixon of Highland states that all members who are not matched and who want to play will be matched at the club. All scores turned in will be entered in league averages. Dinner will be served following league play.

Snead still has to face his strongest rivals for the $3,000 top money. Today he encounters Mangrum, whose third-round 68 set Harmon back on his heels. And on Sunday is Snead, Harmon, Oliver and Middlecoff in the same foursome.

With two more rounds to play today and tomorrow, Snead has piled up 53 points and his closest pursuer, cooling-off Claude Mangrum, of Mamaronock, N. Y., had 23.

Pudgy Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., took through with a red-hot third round against ice cold opposition to take third place with a plus 20 total. Then came Jim Ferrier and Cary Middlecoff, tied with plus 17, and Lloyd Mangrum, plus 15.

Oliver's third round of 35-32-67

Florida's tennis team is composed of six Floridians, one Kentuckian and a freshman from Illinois.

Manager Casey marched the New York Yankees to three straight World Championships by playing lineup hunches—such stuff as whisking some bench-sitter into a game to hit a winning homer.

Casey—graying, wrinkled, and jovial—seemed to lose that fabulous touch early this season. Riddled by injuries, service losses, and retirement of Joe Di Maggio, the Yankees dropped 11 of their first 19.

Then the old master of the triple play—sometimes quadruple—steered the Yankees to four wins in five games. That's where they stood yesterday as they tackled the last place Detroit Tigers here.

Only trouble was, as Casey unhurriedly related it:

"I had three good first basemen. But none of 'em could play. That big guy (Johnny Mize) got hit on the toe four days ago. And (Bobby) Avila ran into (Joe) Collins in Cleveland and tore Joe's leg. And (Johnny) Hopp got a charley horse running from first to third."

So the 60-year-old Casey, whose smile rambles from ear to ear, spoke some encouraging words to Irv Noren—the 27-year-old center-fielder Casey got from the Washington Senators recently.

"You're the first baseman," said Casey.

Noren had played first base some of the time at Washington and at Fort Worth in the minors. Irv, with a good name as a hitter, had been a batting flop since he joined the Yankees, batting about .220.

So what happened?

The six-foot native of Jamestown, N. Y., played flawlessly in the field, handling six throws.

With the score tied 1-1 in the seventh he powered a one-run homer into the upper right field stands.

With the score tied 2-2 in the ninth, Noren stepped to the plate with Gil McDougald on third. The Yankee newcomer ripped a single into centerfield to send Casey back to the hotel happy.

Will Noren stay on first? "Couldn't say," grinned Casey, man of many hunches.

Stengel replaced Noren in centerfield with Bob Cerv.

Bears Open Tri County With Bark River Here

JACK BECK

After one false start last Sunday in which rain forced postponement of the regular Tri County league opener at Felch, the Escanaba Bears begin defense of their league championship in a home stand against Bark River.

The game is slated to open at the city diamond at 2:30 sharp. It is one of five league openers, with Daggett at Wallace, Stephenson at Perronville, Felch at Hermansville and Wilson at Foster City in the others.

The Bears, who won the regular season and the playoff championships last season, are managed this year by Jack Beck, veteran Escanaba baseball player and manager.

Beck today named Red Kreig of Marquette, who works in Escanaba, or Charlie Camps for starting mound duty. Remainder of the starting lineup will have Jim Nyquist or Dale Wood catching, Ed Gauthier or Don Paulin at first base, Ray O'Seen at second, Camps or Gauthier at short, Babe Kleiman at third, Joe Ricci, Bob naba, or Charlie Camps for starting mound duty. Remainder of the starting lineup will have Jim Nyquist or Dale Wood catching, Ed Gauthier or Don Paulin at first base, Ray O'Seen at second, Camps or Gauthier at short, Babe Kleiman at third, Joe Ricci, Bob Dufour and Bob LeHouillier in the outfield.

New Lineup

For the most part the lineup is new from last season. Many of the veterans are in the softball fold this year. Slack on the team will be taken up by high school pitchers as soon as Summer vacation begins next month.

Bark River is one of Escanaba's traditional baseball foes and a large crowd is expected for the first clash this season. Manager Leo Knauf has a sprinkling of veterans in his lineup which is also composed mostly of newcomers.

Knauf plans to use either Joe Rademacher or Ben Kleiman on the mound.

John Roman is the Escanaba umpire.

NO-HIT HEROES—Pitcher Virgil Trucks (left), who hadn't won a game this year, and outfielder Vic Wertz of the Detroit Tigers embrace in the dressing room after Trucks pitched a non-hitter and Wertz hit a ninth inning homer to beat the Washington Senators, 1 to 0, in Detroit (May 15). Trucks, a 33-year-old righthander, didn't give up a hint of a hit and pitched 1952's first major league no-hit, no-run game. (AP Wirephoto)

Keg Quint Breaks Into ABC Money

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—A long drought among regular teams in the American Bowling Congress tournament ended last night when the Amster Kirtz Co. quintet of Akron, Ohio, hopped into eighth place. It was the first change in the top 10 regular team leaders since May 1.

The Kirtz team started with a 1,027 game, followed with 957 and ended with 1,009 for a total of 2,993. An entry from Indianapolis came within 61 points of 10th place in team shooting. Mechanic's Laundry scored 2,990.

Yanks Nip Tigers 3-2

DETROIT — (AP)—Anybody remember the last time catcher Joe Ginsberg of the Tigers threw out three would-be base stealers in one game?

Joe, you know, is supposed to be a good-hitting second string catcher who can't throw. But as of yesterday he was completely re-puting all counts:

1—Joe playing regularly for the Tigers and that's made one-time regular Matt Batts a bit puzzled.

2—Joe isn't hitting (.164) with his usual vigor.

3—Joe rifled three throws to nail baserunners at second in yesterday's 3-2 defeat at the hands of the Yankees. And Joe came within a shirt fizzle of getting Phil Rizzuto another time.

Two Steals
A crowd of 6,209 saw Rizzuto steal twice. And his first inning theft after singling put him in a position to score on Yogi Berra's single. However Rizzuto would have reached second without the theft, for Bob Cerv sandwiched a base on balls between Rizzuto's and Berra's single.

Batts was benched for not hitting righthanders. But since his average (.268) against all kinds of pitching is much higher than Joe's, Matt is itching to get back in there.

And he may be playing today, since lefthander Eddie Lopat was slated to pitch against the Tigers.

Manager Red Rolfe planned to start righthander Marlin Stuart (1-1), who whipped the Yankees 6-3 on the eastern road trip.

The Yanks have been ineffective against righthanders this year, winning two and losing ten.

On the other hand they've murdered lefthanders—including the Tigers' Teddy Gray and Billy Hoef yesterday.

One-Runners
Gray, Hoef and the other Tigers are getting used to one-run decisions. That's all they've had this week. The record:

Sunday—lost to Chicago 6-5 and beat Chicago 2-1; Monday—lost; Tuesday—lost to Washington 4-3; Wednesday—beat Washington 3-2; Thursday—beat Washington 1-0 on Virgil Trucks no-hitter; Friday—lost to the Yankees 3-2.

Irv Noren, the newly-acquired centerfielder converted yesterday to first base by Manager Casey Stengel, drove in the two runs that meant a Yankee victory.

He homered off Gray with none on in the seventh. And in the ninth after Gil McDougald doubled off loser Hoef, Noren singled him home.

Pat Mullin drove in both Tiger runs. His grounder in the first tallied Johnny Lipon from third and Pat's double to the right field corner in the eighth scored Lipon again.

But the Tigers lost chances when winning pitcher Allie Reynolds retired them after the Detroiters loaded the bases in the eighth subsequent to Mullin's double, and again in the ninth after putting runners on first and second.

Sub Fleet Gets Preakness Odds

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Two high-strung youngsters are expected today to wage a repetition of the battle their fathers put on in the Preakness nine years ago at Pimlico.

After the starting bell clangs at 4:17 p. m. EST to spring ten 3-year-old thoroughbreds, the dope is for Sub Fleet and Blue Man to settle the issue.

Their fathers had it out in 1943 and so far it's Sub Fleet which could say "my old man licked yours and I'm going to give you the same dose."

Count Fleet whipped Blue Swords when the fathers of two of 1952's leading colts met in the Kentucky Derby. The offspring came together in the Louisville classic two weeks ago and it was the same story although neither won the race. Count Fleet's son, Sub Fleet, was second and Blue Man third.

Also slated to be in the starting stalls are Jampol, winner of the Preakness prep here Monday, Armageddon, the one-eyed flash, Gushing Oil, Arroz, Hansome Teddy and Primate.

They may be slinging mud at each other. The forecast is cloudy and more showers after last night's rain.

Besides the anticipated 30,000 spectators at the track, millions will be able to watch the Preakness on the CBS TV network. It also may be heard on the same radio network.

Question. Why do they call a home run a gopher ball?

Answer: It's a baseball expression of recent vintage. A home run disappears like a gopher or any other rodent.

Q. How old is Ferris Fain and where was he born?

A. The fine Athletics' first baseman, 1951 American league batting champion with a .344 average was born in San Antonio, Tex., 30 years ago. Fain makes his home at Orinda, Calif.

Q. How many hitters in modern big league history have batted .400? Who are they?

A. Only seven — Joe Jackson (1911), T. Cobb (1911-12-22), George Sisler (1920-22), Rogers Hornsby (1922-24-25), Harry Heilmann (1923), Bill Terry (1930) and Ted Williams (1941).

Q. Who holds the major league record for most games lost in one month?

A. The Washington Senators of 1909. The Nats dropped 29 games.

Sports Roundup

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. — (AP) — The graying cattle rancher from Roanoke, Tex., parked his iron— a four-iron not a shooting iron— on the clubhouse steps and started talking about the days he could look Ben Hogan squarely in the eyes on the first tee and usually beat him to the 18th.

This was the man Hogan couldn't lick, lean lord of the fairways in the early forties now almost forgotten in the post-war legend of invincibility that has grown up around his bantam fellow Texan.

"Ben and I were conscious of each other, it seems, ever since we were kids," Byron Nelson said. "But it always was the friendliest of rivalries. Never a bit of bitterness.

"We were the same age. We caddied on the same course — Glen Garden in Fort Worth. It was natural we should become companions and competitors.

"I remember our first match. It was in a Fort Worth caddies' tournament. We were 15, I suppose. It was a nine-hole meet and we tied for the championship. I won the playoff, and there it began."

Golf history shows that from that day to this Hogan, although winner of tournaments in which Nelson competed, never was able to conquer Byron when they clashed in man-to-man combat.

"I don't think I had a better game than Ben," Byron added, between rounds of the Wykagil Round Robin. "I just seemed to have a jinx on him."

In 1941 Nelson and Hogan clashed in the semi-finals of the PGA championship at Cherry Hills in Denver, Nelson winning on the 36th hole. The Fort Worth rivals tied for the title in the San Antonio open that same year and Nelson prevailed in the playoff. Nelson also trounced Bantam Ben in a playoff for the Masters championship in 1942.

Nelson is now 40—six months and nine days older than Hogan. He went into semi-retirement in 1946 after hanging up one of the most amazing records in the sport.

Winner of one open, two masters and two PGA championships, the mechanical master reached his peak in 1945 while Hogan was in the armed forces. He won 19 tournaments, 12 in a row, averaged 68.33 strokes for 120 rounds and earned $52,511, all records.

"Before, during and after the war there were always arguments about who was better—Nelson or Hogan," Byron said. "Circumstances were such that this could never be proved to anybody's satisfaction.

"Hogan came out of the service a better golfer than when he went in—he lost that tail-end hook somewhere along the line—and he seemed to improve still more after his automobile accident. He reached his heights after I'd retired.

"But I recall I won the Knoxville open in 1945, Ben's first post-war tournament, and then won again at Los Angeles and San Francisco the next year when debate was hottest. Shortly afterwards I left the circuit."

Hogan won the U. S. open title in 1948, missed 1949 because of his automobile injuries, then repeated in 1950 and 1951.

"We are very different temperaments," Nelson explained. "Hogan has greater powers of concentration than I — That is, he can maintain them longer. I would always hit lapses when I grew tired. Ben lets himself go, gives vent to his feelings while I get all chewed up inside."

"Analyzing our games, there wasn't much difference off the tee when we were in our primes. I think my long irons were possibly better and Ben could beat my brains out on short chips to the green. But which of us was the better golfer? It's a strange game. Who can say?"

Economist Joins Cooperative Staff

Mrs. Betty Morrison has assumed a position as Home Economist with the Alger-Delta Cooperative Electric Association, it was announced this week by Wynand Nieuwenkamp, manager.

Mrs. Morrison was graduated from Colorado Women's College in 1948. She majored in Home Economics. Combined with this is training and experience in interior decorating along with some commercial experience.

Mrs. Morrison's activities will include the demonstration of electric kitchen equipment to gatherings of Cooperative members. She also will talk on cooperative policies with the groups with which she meets.

Directors of the Cooperative believe that because of her training and experience Mrs. Morrison will be able to assist women of the area served by the cooperative in solving their homemakers problems.

Senators Cleaning Up With New York Yankee Castoffs

By RALPH RODEN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The New York Yankees seldom make a poor trade but at the moment it appears they pulled a whopper in dispatching Frank Shea, Jackie Jensen and Archie Wilson to Washington for Irv Noren.

Yank manager Casey Stengel was reluctant to part with the trio but claimed he was forced to gamble. Stengel's fears have been realized and if Noren doesn't pick up the sage of Yankee Stadium will have nightmares.

Shea, Jensen and Wilson have given the Senators a brighter outlook on life while Noren has yet to catch fire.

Closing Gap
Jensen and Shea teamed up last night to lead the Senators to a 2-0 triumph over the league-leading Cleveland Indians. The victory moved Washington to within 1½ games of the Tribe.

Since the trade on May 3 the Senators have won nine games and lost three to rise from the second division to second place while the Yanks have won seven and dropped four.

Shea, who failed to appear in a single game for the Yanks, has won three straight starts during which he has allowed only two runs. Jensen, who collected only two hits in 19 trips for New York, has batted out 17 hits in 51 times at bat for Washington, a .333 gait. Wilson, who got one hit in two tries for the Yanks, has smashed out 12 hits in 38 chances for a .316 mark and driven in nine runs. Noren has collected only 12 hits in 48 attempts for the Yanks, a .250 average.

Shea blew down the Indians on two hits and fanned nine in out-pitching Early Wynn. Jensen drove in both runs with a sixth-inning single.

Two Little Hits
Ray Boone singled with two out in the fifth for Cleveland's first hit and Al Rosen singled with two gone in the sixth for the Indians' final blow.

Shea launched the Senators' winning rally with a single in the sixth. Ed Yost followed with a double and Jensen cashed them both in with his clutch single.

Noren played his best game since joining the Yankees, driving in two runs as the Bombers edged the Tigers, 3-2, in Detroit. Noren socked his first homer in the seventh and singled home the winning run with one out in the ninth. Noren, obtained for the expressed purpose of playing center field, was employed at first due to injuries to first basemen Johnny Mize, Joe Collins and Johnny Hopp. Rookie Bob Cerv patrolled the middle pasture.

Earl Harist and Satchel Paige combined to pitch the St. Louis Browns to a 2-1 two-hit ten-inning victory over Boston in a night game at St. Louis

Two Senators Urge Limit Of 55 Billion On Federal Spending

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sens. Taft (R-Ohio) and Ferguson (R-Mich.) estimated today a constitutional amendment they propose would hold federal spending to about 55 billion dollars a year.

This would be some 30 billion dollars less than President Truman's budget requests for the 1953 fiscal year starting July 1.

Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and Ferguson introduced a resolution yesterday proposing a constitutional amendment to curb the power of Congress to appropriate money and to hike the public debt.

Wall Street

By RADER WINGET
NEW YORK — (AP) — Business on the stock market didn't amount to much today and prices were narrowly mixed.

Many leaders, ordinarily traded briskly, didn't even appear on the tape in the two-hour session. Others moved an eighth or so either way without enthusiasm, when they moved at all.

The volume came to an estimated 300,000 shares, the lowest for a Saturday since May 21, 1949.

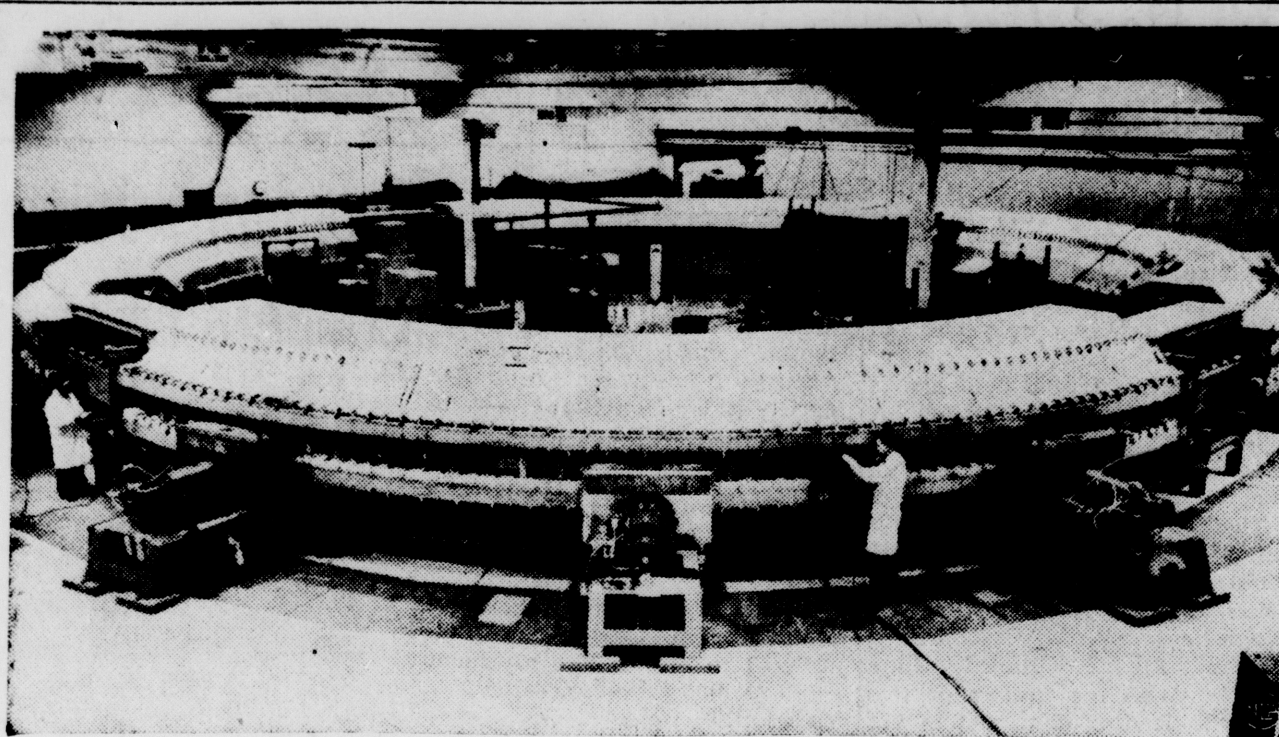

Trading was so spotty that a true picture of market movement was difficult to obtain. Everything was on an individual basis with buying and selling highly selective.

That has been generally true of the market all week. The volume of business this week is well under the five million mark, the smallest for a full week in three years. Only once this week did volume pass the million point. That level is considered the break-even point by brokers who live on their commissions for executing customers' orders.

The blanket of inactivity was thrown over the market when the supreme court started considering the government's seizure of the steel industry.

Brokers believe the market will continue its quietly irregular performance until the Supreme Court settles the question of who is to control the industry.

They believe it would take a major development in the domestic economic scene or in the sphere of international politics to shake the market out of the groove.

Efforts Not Sincere
Joy told newsmen he made the review "in order that there might be no misunderstanding."

"In return, we got the usual propaganda blast accusing us of maltreating their (Red) prisoners of war," Joy said. "It was full of invective and accused us of all the crimes in the book."

Joy told the Red general: "Your tactics, attitude and irresponsible words reveal an insincerity and ill-will which make increasingly difficult the consummation of an armistice and lead all the world to suspect that you have never genuinely desired an armistice."

"I suggest you re-evaluate your present behavior in the light of the tragic situation you are creating," Nam II again referred to the letter written to obtain the release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, seized by Red prisoners of war on Koje Island. The letter has since been repudiated by Gen. Mark W. Clark, United Nations commander in the Far East.

In his first attack of Clark's action, Nam II said it implied the Allies "would persist in carrying on inhuman treatment and forcible screening" of captured Reds.

It is estimated that there are 600,000 kinds of insects in the world, more than there are of all other kinds of creatures on the earth put together.

Auto Workers Receive 4-Cent Raise June 1

DETROIT — (AP) — Approximately 1,000,000 auto workers will get a four-cent an hour wage boost in their pay checks starting June 1.

The raise is an automatic "annual improvement factor" which has no relation to the cost-of-living pay scale in virtually all industry contracts. It applies to employees of General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and a host of smaller firms.

The improvement factor was negotiated when the companies and the CIO United Auto Workers signed five-year contracts in 1949 and 1950. It is designed to raise living standards of the workers in line with technological advances which speed production.

Chuckley Lucky
ELMIRA, N. Y. — (AP) — The police report probably read: Little Chuckley was lucky. Four-year-old Chuckley Lemark was reported missing by his parents the other night. Patrolman Albert Minchin sped to the home in a prowl car and soon found Chuckley sleeping peacefully underneath an automobile parked nearby.

Little Inch Breaks
MARIETTA, Pa. — (AP) — A temporary section of the Little Inch pipeline ripped open today, apparently from internal pressure. Six workmen were injured as gas pouring from the line under 500 pounds pressure spread dangerously explosive fumes across the flat Lancaster county countryside.

Welsh Well Known
Right now, politicians figure former mayor George Welsh of Grand Rapids as the leading runner for lieutenant governor, even though he has made many enemies in years past and has switched from Republican to Democratic roles with ease.

He is the best known, the strongest-backed and most astute campaigner of the field of five. The others are State Senator Clarence A. Reid of Detroit, Mayor Thomas Leith of Brighton, former liquor commissioner Harry Henderson of Franklin and former Rep. David Young of Saginaw county.

Leith and Henderson have failed in previous tries and Young is little known around the state. Reid, likewise, is not well known outside but he has been a strong vote-getter in Wayne county and is well liked by labor circles in that area. He, maybe, can give Welsh a run.

Personal
Mr. and Mrs. Donald Belanger, 221 S. 11th St., are visiting in Detroit with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Belanger Sr., and family. The Louis Belangers are former Escanaba residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Sivola, Ford River Road, have gone to the Copper Country for the weekend and are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pleshe in Painesdale and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sivola of Elo.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt left Friday for Kalamazoo to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Embs and family and to meet their son, Jim Holt, third year pharmacy student at Ferris Institute. Big Rapids, will with return with them for a summer vacation at home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. LaBranche, 400 S. 10th St., have returned from Milwaukee, where Mr. LaBranche attended a Funeral Directors' convention.

Private Francis W. King left by plane yesterday for Camp Stone-man, Calif., after spending a 14 day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. King, 504 S. 13th St.

Miss Audrey Beach, who is employed in Milwaukee, has arrived to spend the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Beach, 304 S. 17th St., and to attend the LaFave-St. Jacques wedding.

Hold Installation Of PTA Officers

Mrs. Christian Riegel of Escanaba conducted the installation service for the new officers of the PTA Wednesday evening, May 14. Preliminary to the installation service, Mrs. Riegel, drawing from her own extensive experience in Parent-Teacher Association work, told of the greater benefits received when parents and teachers work together in a spirit of tolerance toward each other's problems.

The candle light service was very effective. As Mrs. Riegel outlined the duties of each officer, Mrs. Leonard Wining assisted her by presenting a corsage of yellow daffodils to each one.

The new officers are: Mrs. Norman Anderson, president; Mrs. Ruth Reese, secretary; Mrs. Levi Alford, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Bender, Jr., first vice president; Mrs. Harold Anderson, second vice president.

Mrs. Norman Anderson then named the committee chairman for the coming year. They are: Membership, Mrs. Steve Maziarz and Mrs. John Chriske; Program, Mrs. Andy Anderson and Mrs. Joseph Whitney; Refreshments, Mrs. Alfred Anderson; Publicity, Mrs. Frank Bender, Jr.

The final PTA activity of this school year will be the picnic for the Soo Hill school children which will take place Thursday, May 29. Paul Vardigan will supervise games and races.

Visitors at the meeting were the officers of the Newhall PTA: Mr. and Mrs. L. Beauchamp, Mrs. William Lantange, Mrs. Joe Choinard and Mrs. Fred Germaine.

The boys and girls 4-H clubs under the leadership of Mrs. Louis Buehler and Mrs. Andy Anderson presented a varied program of entertaining songs and skits, including a guitar solo by Donna Olson.

Mrs. Anderson introduced the girls who modeled articles of clothing they had made for achievement day presentation. County honors had been won by Donna Olson and Lillian Peterson and local honors by Lucy Anderson, Donna Owens and Delores Anderson, the latter being named winner of the dress review also. The other girls participating were Barbara and Katie Randall, Betty Whitney, Rosie Olson, Carol Owens and Mary Maziarz.

The boys 4-H club displayed the woodworking projects completed for the Achievement Day program. Bobby Mattson, Ronald LaCrosse and Billy LaMarche won county honors in woodworking. Other boys who completed their projects were Dickie Hereau, Harold and Bobby Brazeau, Robert Anderson, Keith Mattson, Roy Cartwright, Bob Chriske, Garry Randall, David Winker and Dickie Emond.

Nahma PT Unit Holds Last Meeting

NAHMA — The last meeting of the Parent Teachers Association for this year was held at the school last week with James Roddy, newly elected president, presiding.

Mr. Benzie, of the Delta-Mc-nominee Health Department, was a guest at the meeting. He explained the Rodent Control Program for the Community which is being sponsored by the local Lions Club. In his talk, Mr. Benzie said that garbage cans should be covered, old sheds torn down, lumber should be in neat piles and all rubbish eliminated before the program would be in effect.

Warfarin, a chemical when taken internally does not allow the blood to clot, will be used. He explained that rodents must feed off this from 5 to 14 days before death occurs. Internal hemorrhage get worse each day and about the fifth day the rat has no strength and will remain in his burrow. This eliminates the carcasses.

The local Lions will construct bait boxes and the residents will get them to use at their own places. Bait containers are shallow dishes. All places in the community that harbor rats will be taken care of by the Lions. Residents will be charged a nominal fee for the warfarin. The bait boxes are so constructed that dogs and cats will not be able to get at the bait. If pets are well fed during the program, they probably wouldn't eat the bait, which is dry and resembles corn meal. Rats are known to carry disease and occasionally bite small children in their beds. Two films explaining the program in the rural section and towns were shown.

Full cooperation of the residents will be appreciated in order to insure success of the program.

School rooms had displays of work the children had done during the year. 4-H Sewing was displayed in the Home Economics room and the Handicraft was in the shop.

A social hour of cards followed the business session. Those holding high scores were: Mrs. Henry Sargent, bridge, Mrs. Adrian Hebert, 500 and George Miller, cribbage.

Lunch was served in the school dining hall.
